

Redistricting Ruling Applicable To State

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The U.S. Supreme Court's historic legislative reapportionment decision was not at all based upon the mandatory redistricting requirements of the Tennessee constitution, study revealed Monday.

The ruling — issued last week — is thus broad enough to have a direct effect upon Nebraska, where legislative redistricting provisions are merely permissive.

In light of this, State Sen. George Syas told The Star by telephone that he and two other Omaha senators "intend to take it (the issue) to court" in Nebraska.

Syas said he and Sens. Eugene Mahoney and William Skarda plan to meet soon to determine their strategy.

If a constitutional amendment which would give 20% to 30% weight to area in legislative redistricting is turned down by Nebraska voters next November, the way will be clear to go to court, Syas said.

As of now, the Omaha senators are debating whether they ought to take the case to court before the vote, Syas pointed out. The November vote, he noted, might "jeopardize" their case.

Syas opposes the proposed amendment which would destroy the current constitutional requirement that population be the sole basis for redistricting.

Other Omaha senators will be invited to join any legal action, Syas noted.

The Star studied the 165-page court document, then asked for comment from Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer, who himself has been probing the subject for the past 3 days.

"Right Applies Equally" Study of the ruling indicates that "the right of individual citizens to seek redress in the courts applies equally to Nebraskans even though they have no compulsory redistricting law," Meyer said.

However, he pointed out:

"The case does not hold that merely because a vote counts more in one district than it does in another, that the federal courts will automatically step in and require that such a state of facts be changed.

"It does hold that where an individual claims that he and others have been deprived of the equal protection of the laws, the federal courts can accept jurisdiction of the case even though the claim is based on discrimination with respect to their political rights."

This is an historic break with precedent.

But, Meyer cautioned:

"Even though the federal courts will now accept cases of this nature, it would still be necessary to establish not only that inequality of apportionment exists with respect to the election of legislators, but also that this inequality resulted in an "invidious discrimination" with respect to certain groups of voters."

In delivering the opinion of the high court, Justice Brennan referred to "arbitrary and capricious state action offensive to the Fourteenth Amendment" and a "gross disproportion of representation."

(The vote of a resident in Nebraska's 37th District carries 7½ times as much weight in the Legislature as that of a 10th District resident. Thirteen of the 43 districts hold 45% of the state population and barely 30% of the legislative vote.)

(The Legislature has not been redistricted since it was established as a unicameral in 1935.)

Need Rational Design

In a concurring opinion, Justice Clark wrote that there must be "a rational design" to a state's legislative districting.

Clark noted that absolute mathematical equality among voters is not required.

But Clark also pointed to a difference between the Tennessee case and application of its decision to Nebraska.

"Although I find the Tennessee apportionment statute offends the equal protection clause, I would not consider intervention by this court into so delicate a field if there were any other relief available to the people of Tennessee," the judge wrote.

"But the majority of the people of Tennessee have no 'practical opportunities' for exerting their political weight at the polls" to correct

IT'S FINAL--INTERSTATE SOUTH

—PLEADED INNOCENT AT ARRAIGNMENT—

Dentist, Charged In Acid Case, Rushed To Hospital

... SAID SUFFERING FROM INTERNAL POISONING

Dr. Michael Eyen was rushed to a Lincoln hospital late Monday night for treatment for "internal poisoning" after firemen called to his home found him on a bed, unconscious and not breathing.

The Lincoln dentist's physician said the 50-year-old man — at first listed as "critical" — was suffering from internal poisoning and "a kind of toxic state." By early Tuesday the physician reported Dr. Eyen's condition was "reasonably fair" and that he was expected to recover.

Hospital officials said intravenous medication and an antidote were administered to Dr. Eyen, who earlier Monday had pleaded innocent to a felony assault charge in connection with an acid-throwing incident involving a 24-year-old Lincoln man.

Firemen said they were first notified when someone came from the Eyen home at 1352 Aldrich Rd. to the fire station at Cotner and A to get help. The person who notified them was not identified.

Battalion Chief Warren D. Miller said: "We found Dr. Eyen unconscious and not breathing. We applied the resuscitator and inhalator, and then the ambulance took him to the hospital." The dentist was found in a basement room of his Piedmont home.

Traffic Lt. Milburn Green and Det. Lt. Merl Hesser were sent to the hospital, and Police Chief Joe Carroll arrived shortly afterward.

Chief Carroll would comment only that Dr. Eyen "was admitted to the hospital."

Cruiser officer Rollie Woodruff and William Benson were assigned to the case, Carroll said, and would not be available to offer their report until they finished their patrol early Tuesday morning.

Dr. Eyen was arraigned before Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocum on a complaint charging him with assault with intent to inflict great bodily harm.

Pleading innocent, Dr. Eyen waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to District Court on $2,500 bond. The bond was furnished late Monday and the dentist was released from County Jail.

According to County Attorney Paul Douglas, Eyen admitted that he paid two Omahas, Howard D. Wolfe and Everett J. Gearhart, to assault Victor Pechar of 501 So. 13th on March 3.

Douglas said that Wolfe and Gearhart stated that they were paid $300 by Eyen to "beat up" Pechar because Pechar had previously beaten the dentist.

Wolfe and Gearhart pleaded guilty last Friday in Lancaster County Court to misdemeanor assault and battery charges in connection with the March 3 incident.

The pair have been jailed pending an investigation by the probation officer and are scheduled for sentencing Wednesday.

Pechar suffered severe eye, face, arm, chest and leg injuries from acid thrown in his face as he left his apartment, March 17.

Pechar, who was hospitalized for 11 days, told police that he was walking down the hallway of his apartment house when someone, he did not know whom, had thrown the liquid at him.

Pechar lives in an apartment he shares with his brother, Frank, 25, and another man, Tom Conden, 21. Pechar was employed as an apprentice machinist.

The acid which was thrown was later analyzed as a mixture of sulfuric, nitric and other acids.

Authorities declined comment on the motive in view of the fact that Eyen entered an innocent plea.

However, Douglas stated that Eyen admitted knowing Pechar for several years.

The two men recently returned from an extensive 6-week trip together Douglas said.

'MIDWIVES' MEET ACTRESS

Actress Angie Dickinson, who plays the part of a midwife in a movie called "Jessica," poses with a group of California Highway patrolmen, all of whom have delivered one or more babies in the course of duty. Studio publicity men were told to round up some midwives to have lunch with Miss Dickinson in Hollywood to help plug the movie. When none was found the patrolmen were contacted and came to the rescue.

Level Stock Fraud Count Against Res

New York (AP)—The Federal government leveled a new stock fraud charge Monday against an outlawed father-son team of brokers, accusing them of a $5 million swindle of Swan-Finch Oil Corp. stockholders.

The pair, Jerry Re, 65, and his son, Gerard, 39, previously lost their brokerage licenses, were ousted from the American Stock Exchange and freed on bond in another stock case.

Indicted with them Monday by a federal grand jury was Lowell W. Birrell, former president of Swan-Finch, who fled to Brazil in 1958 in advance of federal charges involving more than $13 million in stock frauds.

2 Lincoln Hotels Face Extensive Remodeling

... DOLAN NAMED AS MANAGER

Extensive remodeling of the Lincoln and Capital Hotels will begin in the near future to permit expanded commercial and convention activities and services.

The announcement was made by Charles F. Dolan, who will be general manager of the two hotels purchased last week by the Lincoln Terminal Co., owned by the Bennett S. Martin family.

Dolan is resigning his position as a regional supervisor for the Sheraton Midcontinent Corp.

Terminal Co. officials said remodeling details had not been determined, but emphasis probably will be placed on the Lincoln at 9th and P. Architectural work will be done by Schaumburg and Freeman, Dolan said, and the M. W. Anderson Construction Co. will start the actual remodeling as soon as possible.

Dolan said plans include the further development of permanent guest facilities of the efficiency type to help satisfy Lincoln's need for downtown apartment accommodations.

The Terminal Co. said there were no present plans for acquisition of other land around the Lincoln for parking or other facilities. Officials said use of one of the hotels as a temporary University of Nebraska student residence is still in the discussion stage.

Originally from Columbus, Neb., Dolan worked for the Eppley Hotel chain for 18 years before joining the Fields organization and subsequently the Sheraton Corporation upon those companies acquiring the Eppley Hotels. He has managed hotels in Columbus, Norfolk, Scottsbluff, Omaha and Lincoln, Council Bluffs, Ia.; Worcester and Cambridge, Mass.; and St. Louis, Mo.

For the past few months, Dolan has been a regional supervisor for the Sheraton Corporation.

North Route Is Rejected

GOV. MORRISON SAYS STATE SHOULD GET TO WORK NOW

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Federal Bureau of Roads has rejected the state's request to locate the Interstate Highway north of the South Platte River between Brady and Big Springs, Gov. Frank Morrison announced Monday.

Morrison said he was informed of the bureau's decision rejecting the north route and reaffirming its position for the southern route in a letter from Federal Highway Administrator Rex Whitton.

"I feel that today's decision by the Bureau of Roads rejecting the north route is final," Morrison said.

"The federal government pays 90% of cost of constructing the Interstate Highway, and it's apparent there is no longer any choice between a north and south route," the governor commented.

"There has been fair and thorough consideration of the problem by the Bureau of Roads and a prompt decision has been reached.

'Let's Go Ahead'

"While I'm disappointed in the result, I feel that the best interests of the state will be served by proceeding immediately to implement construction of the route selected and approved by the Federal Bureau of Roads," the governor continued.

Morrison said that "in arriving at this conclusion," he had instructed Highway Commission Secretary Ed Finigan to contact the various members of the commission and to discuss it with them with the result that "the majority of the commissioners now favor proceeding forthwith to implement the plan for constructing this highway south of the river."

Morrison and Finigan said they did not believe they should disclose how the individual members voted, but stated that of the 6 members contacted, 4 favored going ahead with the south route and two were opposed. One member had not yet been contacted.

The governor said that the last time he was in Washington (March 26) he discussed the matter again with Whitton and that the federal highway chief told him then of a factor in connection with U.S. Highway 30 which "he had never discussed with me up to that point."

Morrison said Whitton told him that they (federal officials) "wanted Highway 30 to remain an important federal highway with the continued use of 30 as an important artery of travel and communication."

"Placing the Interstate north of the river would not serve the area as well, in their opinion, as having two major highways — one north and one south," Morrison related.

Whitton also told him there would be "less duplication of facilities by placing the Interstate south," the governor said.

Whitton did not mention the Highway 30 matter in his letter to Morrison, stating only that all the information on the controversial location had been carefully considered.

This information included the 9 points favoring the north submitted by State Engineer John Hossack, a personal visit from Morrison and Highway Commissioners Dan Ramsey of Scottsbluff and Kirk Mendenhall of North Platte (who favored the north), and J. R. McBride of Minden (who favored the south), and subsequent letters from Ramsey and Mendenhall.

Senate Turns Critical Eye On United Nations

Washington (AP)—The Senate turned a critical eye on the United Nations Monday before voting on a multimillion dollar loan to help the world organization out of a financial bind.

Approval of the bipartisan compromise loan proposal was expected by overwhelming vote, but not before a few thousand words were delivered on the way the United Nations is conducted. Although the pending legislation is labeled a compromise, it actually would give President Kennedy virtually what he asked.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, led off with a speech in which he said there is "a growing concern with the trend in the evolution of the United Nations organization and our position in it."

The General Assembly's

value as a forum for thunder on great issues is fading, Mansfield said, and it is becoming "increasingly a marketplace for a trading of votes" and "the transmission of trivial politics on a vast and international scale."

And as for the Security Council, Mansfield said that due to Russian vetoes the Security Council has made "only minor contributions to order and stability" during the past dozen years.

—DIES OF BRAIN INJURY—

Kid Paret Loses Toughest Fight

New York (UPI)—Benny (Kid) Paret, after waging the toughest fight of his career, died today (1:55 a.m. EST) of a brain injury sustained in his savage welterweight title fight with Emile Griffith March 24.

The 24-year-old Cuban succumbed at Roosevelt Hospital. He was the first champion in boxing history to die of injuries received in a title bout.

Paret had been in a coma since he was punched senseless by the hammering fists of Griffith in the 12th round of the grudge fight at Madison Square Garden.

He was removed from the Garden on a stretcher and taken to Roosevelt Hospital, where he underwent a 3-hour operation to relieve pressure on his brain caused by two massive blood clots.

Paret rallied slightly last Tuesday when doctors noted his reflexes had "become somewhat stronger," thus providing a ray of hope for relatives and friends who had been praying for the recovery of the former champion.

However, he contracted pneumonia on Monday, adding to the odds against survival.

At Paret's bedside when he died were his wife, Lucy, who is expecting her second child in September, and his mother, Mrs. Maxima Crespo.

Mrs. Paret had watched the kid's last fight via television at their Miami, Fla., home. She flew to New York the following day with the couple's 2½-year-old son, Benny Jr. She had maintained an almost constant vigil at the hospital.

Five Go Over San Quentin's Wall

Ladder And A Cotton Rope Do The Trick

... First In 19 Years

San Quentin, Calif. (P) — Five convicts escaped over San Quentin Prison's 40-foot outer wall Monday with a stolen ladder and a cotton rope.

It was the prison's first wall-scaling escape in 19 years.

The 5 went over unseen in early morning darkness near a guard tower they knew was not manned at midnight. All worked a midnight to 3 a.m. shift in the prison's textile mill.

Warden Fred Dickson said it was presumed the fugitives split up and were hiding in the wooded hilly region surrounding the prison on the shore of San Francisco Bay.

A posse of 100 officers, including prison guards, state highway patrolmen and Marin County officers, concentrated their hunt in the wooded hills.

But roadblock watch also was kept on approaches to the Golden Gate and Richmond-San Rafael bridges. Warden Dickson issued a warning to motorists not to pick up hitchhikers.

The 5 fugitives, all assigned as minimum security convicts to jobs in the textile mill outside the prison's inner wall, are:

Kenneth E. Adams, 32, committed for 1960 jail escape at Modesto.

John L. Rucker, 31, committed from Fresno County for grand theft.

James Dubois, 28, committed from Los Angeles for robbery.

J. F. Spatola, 31, sentenced from Los Angeles for burglary and parole violation.

G. C. Roark, 27, sentenced from Los Angeles for burglary and parole violation.

All were accounted for at a routine 3 a.m. check. They were missing at 3:30 a.m.

Dickson said investigation disclosed they had stolen two screw drivers used on the mill looms and used these to break into a storage room where they grabbed the ladder.

3 Nebraska Counties Are Disaster Areas

Washington (P) — The Small Business Administration designated Pierce, Madison and Douglas counties and adjacent Nebraska localities Monday as disaster areas as a result of recent floods.

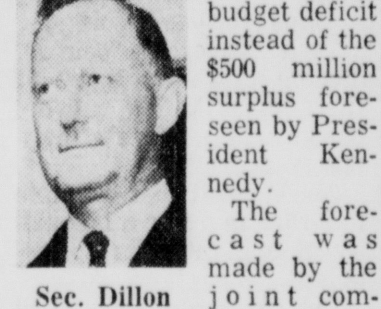

The action permits homeowners, businesses, churches and charitable institutions to apply to the SBA for repair loans.

The agency will open an office at Norfolk, Neb., to receive applications from residents of Pierce and Madison counties. Applications from residents of Douglas County will be received by the SBA Omaha office, 215 N. 17th St.

Big Budget Deficit Is Foreseen

... By Joint Committee

Washington (UPI) — A House-Senate committee predicted Monday that the federal government would wind up the next fiscal year with a $3.8 to $4.9 billion budget deficit instead of the $500 million surplus foreseen by President Kennedy.

The forecast was made by the Sec. Dillon joint committee on taxation as Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon appealed to the Senate to restore to the pending tax reform bill revenue-yielding provisions knocked out of the measure by the House.

Tax Cut Hope Is Held

At the same time, Dillon held out hope for some federal income tax cuts in the next year or so. He said the administration planned to submit another tax reform package later which would permit a "substantial readjustment of income tax rates." He had spoken previously of such possible reductions.

Omaha Youth Is Winner In Legion Oratorical Contest

Denver (UPI) — Chip Newton, 18-year-old Omaha high school senior, won the regional competition in the American Legion's national high school oratorical contest Monday.

Newton outpointed 3 contestants from New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming. He will compete in the sectional eliminations in Laramie, Wyo., April 9.

Jim Eakins, national representative for the American Legion here, said the national finals will be held April 12 in Salt Lake City. The national winner receives a $4,000 scholarship.

Eakins said more than 300,000 students from 50 states took part in the 25th annual contest this year. Each spoke on the U.S. Constitution.

Newton defeated Gregg Oswald, Fort Collins, Colo., Mada Petranovich, Douglas, Wyo., and Kathy Margard of Albuquerque, N.M., in Monday's contest.

Newton's parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Newton. He attends Omaha Central High School.

Archbishop Disputes New Orleans Woman

... Integration Foe Wants 'Day In Court'

New Orleans (P) — A New Orleans woman said Monday she wants her "day in court" before Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel about his letter allegedly threatening her with excommunication.

Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr., who heads the militant segregation group Save Our Nation, said she received the letter Saturday night threatening excommunication because of her segregationist activities.

The archbishop's chancery, however, Monday labeled the letter "a paternal admonition" and said it went to "a few Catholics." The chancery again denied it went to all Catholics who shared the speakers' platform at a meeting of the pro-segregation citizens council on Friday.

Buras Sees Archbishop
State Rep. Rodney Buras, who received the letter from the Archbishop Sunday, had an interview with Archbishop Rummel Monday.

Buras said he would remain opposed to racial integration of all schools — "emphatically."

"However, as a member of the Roman Catholic Church," he said, "I must abide by its laws and decisions pertaining to the diocese in which I live."

Mrs. Gaillot, interviewed in her apartment, refused to show the letter to newsmen.

"The letter was marked private and confidential and I'll keep it that way until the archbishop refuses to see me," she said. "But I'll tell you this—this letter contains false statements and accusations which I feel I'm entitled to answer."

May Add Package Licenses

The City Council may consider increasing the number of package liquor licenses in Lincoln.

The council Monday informally authorized Mayor Pat Boyles and Public Safety Director Emmett Junge to confer with the State Liquor Commission and other officials and make a study report.

This move followed a hearing on the application of Chris A. Earnest A. and George A. Christopolos for a package liquor license at 1340 O.

Atty. Art Perry, representing the Christopolos family, said Lincoln's population has increased in the past 10 years and the number of licenses hasn't been increased.

30 Since 1940
Junge told the council the present limit of 30 package liquor licenses was established by 1940 council policy.

Perry suggested that the council "casually increase the number of licenses rather than announce a policy change for additional licenses."

However, council discussion disavowed this approach and indicated any policy change should be publicly announced and equal opportunity given to all interested applicants.

In a recent policy change, the council enlarged the downtown police foot-patrol area in which beer and liquor licenses may be located, but took no action on any number increase.

The Christopolos application was tabled by the council pending a report on the proposed study.

In other action, the council approved the transfer of two beer licenses:

Ken and O. W. Kimmel were approved for an off-sale beer license at 101 N. 27th. This license is being relinquished by Henry and Amelia Herzenrader. Kimmel, who has operated a beer distribution firm, will relinquish his wholesale license for the retail beer license.

Flord E. and Virginia P. Watts were approved for an off-sale beer license at 106 So. 21st. This license is being relinquished by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reams.

High Court Orders 12 Cases Reargued

... Action Stems From Illness That Sidelined Justice Whittaker

Washington (P) — The Supreme Court ordered Monday reargument of 12 cases it already has heard—an unusual number in one decision day.

The action stemmed from the illness that sidelined Justice Charles E. Whittaker last month and led to his retirement last week.

The court will have its full tie-breaking total of 9 again when Whittaker's successor is confirmed by the Senate. President Kennedy has nominated Byron R. White, 44-year-old deputy attorney general, to the job.

Among a huge batch of orders, the high tribunal let stand a decision killing a state anti-discrimination law that applied only to owners of publicly financed housing. The decision, which provided no reasons, applies specifically to Washington state but has a bearing on several other states with similar laws. But the ruling did not touch on the broad general question of anti-discrimination laws

Know Why K. Thumped With Shoe?

Angry Because He Broke Wrist Watch

New York (P) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's famous pounding of a United Nations desk with his shoe was prompted by anger at having broken his wrist watch.

So he told Mrs. Drew Pearson, wife of the Washington columnist, when she and her husband visited him last August at his home near Gagra on the Black Sea.

Mrs. Pearson, writing in the Saturday evening Post, said:

"I remember Mr. K's explaining why he took his shoe off at United Nations."

"He said he was banging his fist on the desk when he broke his wrist watch, which made him mad or madder, I guess; so he took off his shoe."

A Wild Session
The shoe pounding on Oct. 12, 1960, gave the United Nations one of the wildest sessions in its history.

The incident began when Philippine Delegate Lorenzo Sumulong demanded freedom for countries under Soviet domination.

"This jerk . . ." Khrushchev began in reply, and the banging was on.

Bliss walked away from a painting detail at the Lincoln State Hospital Monday morning. He was serving from two to 3 years for auto theft.

Big Sioux Now Slowly Receding

Officials Are Probing Collapse Of New Interstate 29 Bridge

Sioux City (P) — About 600 National Guardsmen who helped wage a successful battle against swollen rivers here for nearly a week were released Monday after the Big Sioux River began slowly receding.

As the weary guardsmen and hundreds of volunteers left their muddy chores state officials from South Dakota and Iowa launched an investigation into the collapse Sunday of a new Interstate Highway 29 bridge into the Big Sioux.

L. M. Clauson, chief engineer of the Iowa Highway Commission, was to inspect the wrecked span near here Monday along with officials of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. South Dakota Gov. Archie Gubbrud also planned to send investigators to check the sunken span.

Gov. Norman Erbe said in Des Moines the Highway Commission planned to hire skindivers to check below the water to help determine what caused the bridge to collapse.

Erbe said the commission would file a request with the Bureau of Public Roads for emergency funds to replace the westbound half of the dual highway river crossing which cost a total of about $350,000.

Erected In '59
The bridge was erected in 1959 but had been opened to traffic only 5 months ago. Iowa officials said the bridge was designed and placed under contract by the South Dakota Highway Commission. The eastbound span was not in any danger, officials

Missouri Falling At Nebraska City

Kansas City (P) — The Missouri River still was out of its banks but falling from Nebraska City to St. Joseph Monday.

The Weather Bureau said the river was falling below flood stage of 18 feet at Nebraska City. The stage at Rulo was about two feet above flood stage of 17 feet but was expected to drop to below flood stage Tuesday morning.

The Missouri crested at St. Joseph Sunday night at 18.8 feet and is expected to fall below flood stage of 17 feet by Wednesday morning.

The Missouri was cresting below flood stage Monday at Atchison, Leavenworth and Kansas City and no flooding was indicated from Atchison to Jefferson City.

$200,000 Suit Filed Against Hastings Pair

... In Swine Contract

Omaha (P)—Breeding of a British strain of hogs with American types violates contract agreements, it is claimed in a $200,000 lawsuit filed in Federal District Court.

The suit was filed by attorneys for Mrs. Ronnie Cosgrove of Des Moines.

Defendants are Emery R. L'Heureux of Hastings, Neb., and his wife, Inez, vice president and secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska-Kansas Wessex Saddleback Swine, Inc.

Mrs. Cosgrove is president of the organization, holding 51 shares of stock in the corporation. The defendants hold 49%.

Richard Bruckner, attorney for Mrs. Cosgrove, said the swine were imported to America in 1950, when 50 gilts and 5 boars were brought into the country.

He said the Wessex Saddlebacks are so exclusive that the corporation will only sell a half-interest in them.

"Hundreds of farmers in Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio have paid $375 for a half-interest in each swine," Bruckner said.

"The corporation then owns a half-interest in the litter and demands that only the best be kept for breeding purposes," he said.

"My client charges the defendants have violated the breeding rules and not lived up to the corporation rules," he added.

$1,000 Taken In Lewellen Bank Robbery

Lewellen (P) — Burglars broke into the vault of the First National Bank Sunday night taking about $1,000 in silver and an undetermined amount of loot from safety deposit boxes.

The estimate was made by assistant cashier Jack Beard.

Authorities declined to say whether burglars had been able to get into two older type safes which were kept in the vault, but Beard said no bank money except the silver was taken.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, State Patrol investigator Leo Knudtson and Garden County Sheriff Ray Loyd were investigating.

The bank is located in a two-story brick building in Lewellen, a village of 411 persons about 80 miles west of North Platte.

The thieves forced the rear door, then bored into the wall at the rear of the vault. They had a 12 by 16 inch hole in the brick and concrete wall.

Safety deposit boxes were rifled and their contents strewn about.

Beard said the silver was taken from a shelf.

State Asks U.S. Court To Dismiss Rhodes Appeal

Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to dismiss a request from Bridgeport Atty. Paul Rhodes for a writ of certiorari for a review of an action denying him a writ of habeas corpus.

Rhodes, who is currently serving a 9-month sentence in the Nebraska Penitentiary on a contempt of court charge in Morrill County District Court, was originally denied the writ of habeas corpus in Lancaster County District Court.

He alleges in the action that several of his rights were violated under the State and U.S. Constitutions.

In a brief filed with the high court, Meyer said that jurisdiction in the contempt proceedings against Rhodes had been lodged in the State Supreme Court by error proceedings instituted by Rhodes.

He asserted that the District Court of Lancaster County had no jurisdiction to interfere with that previous jurisdiction by habeas corpus action.

He added that the writ of habeas corpus did not involve the decision of any federal question and should not be reviewed by the high court.

Morris Seeking New Hospital Care Sites For Institutions

State Institutions Director George Morris embarked Monday on the task of seeing what can be worked out to provide medical care and surgical facilities to institutional inmates who no longer can be treated at the State Orthopedic Hospital in Lincoln.

An attorney general's opinion apparently has ended the long practice of sending inmates from various state institutions to Orthopedic Hospital for medical or surgical treatment.

Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer advised Morris that his department "may admit crippled and deformed patients from other state institutions on the terms and rules prescribed by you when it will not limit the advantages of the Orthopedic Hospital for crippled, ruptured and deformed children without financial resources to provide the necessary medical or surgical treatment."

Meyer said the law makes it clear that patients admitted from other institutions must be "crippled and deformed." Other types of patients would be excluded.

Morris said the Hastings and Lincoln State Hospitals are likely sources of medical

Katzenbach Picked For Deputy Post

Washington (P) —President Kennedy chose Nicholas Katzenbach Monday to be deputy attorney general, succeeding Byron R. White.

Katzenbach, 40, is now assistant attorney general and chief of the Justice Department's office of legal counsel.

Like White, whom Kennedy named to the Supreme Court last Friday, Katzenbach is a former Rhodes Scholar. He studied at Oxford between 1947 and 1949.

Katzenbach is subject to Senate confirmation for the second highest position in the Justice Department, directly under Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Born in Philadelphia, Katzenbach spent most of his early life in Princeton, N.J. His father, the late Edward L. Katzenbach, once was attorney general of New Jersey.

Katzenbach graduated from Princeton in 1945 and received his law degree from Yale in 1947. At Yale, he was editor of the Yale Law Journal.

During World War II, he was an Air Force captain. He was shot down and imprisoned by the Germans.

Kennedy on Jan. 26, 1961, picked Katzenbach as assistant attorney general, in which capacity he has provided legal advice to various government departments and agencies.

Additional Barber Schools Opposed

Omaha (P)—The Nebraska Association of Journeymen Barbers has gone on record as strongly opposing additional barber schools in Nebraska.

John Gorsuch, Omaha, who was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the organization, said the action taken at the association's meeting in Grand Island was unanimous.

Harvey Hall, Omaha, was re-elected president, and Chris Arvanitis, Fremont, was named executive vice president. Arvanitis succeeded Mose H. Barnett, Omaha, longtime association official who declined re-election.

Named vice presidents: Gary Walton, Sidney; C. W. Fiedler, Hastings; Lester Gress, Grand Island; Don Ditson, North Platte; Emil Stedry, Norfolk; Norman Kelley and Gordon Estabrook, Omaha, and C. M. Kennedy of Scottsbluff.

813 Acres Excess Land G.I. Plant Sold For $69,400

Washington (P) — The Defense Department has closed out 98 military installations, or is in the process of doing so, since the administration announced plans a year ago for eliminating obsolete or no longer needed facilities.

The department said the property originally cost $419,500,000 and involved 37,762 acres of land, now released from military use.

Abandonment of the installations, the department calculated, will save an estimated $20,800,000 annually.

Included were 813 acres of excess land at the Cornhusker Ordnance Plant at Grand Island, Nebraska, sold for $69,400. No employees were affected.

Hylton Enters Guilty Plea To Car Death

Falls City (UPI) — Frank Hylton, 51, Humboldt, Monday pleaded guilty to a charge of motor vehicle homicide in connection with the death of a 5-year-old Humboldt kindergarten student.

Hylton was released on $1,000 bond by Richardson County Judge Albert Maust. The girl, Laura Tichy, was killed March 27 when a car driven by Hylton struck a rural bridge. A board became imbedded in the front of the car and the child—who was standing along the road—was struck by the board and thrown 123 feet. She was killed outright.

The accident happened about 4 miles south of Humboldt.

Elmo Smith, Rape-Slayer, Dies In Chair

Bellefonte, Pa. (P) — Elmo Lee Smith, a 41-year-old handyman from Bridgeport, was electrocuted Monday night for the 1959 rape-slaying of a 16-year-old school girl.

Smith appeared calm as he was strapped into the state's electric chair at the Rockview State Correctional Institution.

He was pronounced dead two minutes later at 9:04 p.m.

He was accompanied on his march to the chair by the prison's Protestant chaplain, the Rev. Kenneth Anderson, who chanted the hymn "Nearer My God To Thee."

Officials said the prisoner spent the day in his cell with Rev. Anderson, reading his Bible and chatting.

Smith was convicted in the fatal beating Dec. 28, 1959 of Maryann Mitchell of Philadelphia. Authorities said she had been raped.

The body of the victim, the clothing torn off and cryptic letters scrawled on the exposed flesh with a lipstick, was found on a lonely road in Whitmarsh Township.

facilities, with the latter hospital used for State Penitentiary and Men's Reformatory inmates.

He said he hopes to make arrangements locally for minor operations needed by boys at the Kearney Boys Training School and Geneva Girls Training School.

Institutions which have been providing the most outside patients for Orthopedic Hospital — the Beatrice State Home and State Penitentiary — will not be too much affected as virtually all patients from both places are orthopedic cases.

Meyer's opinion cautioned that "while it is the duty of the State of Nebraska to provide proper medical care for persons assigned to its custody, it could amount to malfeasance of office or contempt of the committing court to hospitalize patients committed to penal or correctional institutions without proper guard or supervision."

Provision should be made "for proper supervision or guarding of such patients," he said.

Do's and don'ts of intelligent investing in stocks and bonds

If you're planning to invest in stocks and bonds, these simple suggestions may help you act wisely and well:

DO decide beforehand how much you can invest, after providing for living costs and a fund for emergencies.

DON'T invest more than you can comfortably afford.

DO define your investment goals. Do you want added income during the year? Or securities that may grow in value through the years? If you're interested in stability of income and safety of capital, bonds may suit your needs best.

DON'T be satisfied with rumors or get-rich-quick schemes from friends or high-pressure telephone salesmen.

DO get the facts. What is a company's past record? How well is it doing now? In addition, what are its prospects?

DON'T expect securities to pile up profits just because you own them. Prices go up; but they also go down. And a company may not continue to pay dividends on its stock, or interest on its bonds.

DO choose your broker carefully. A good way is to visit a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Registered Representatives there can't foretell the future; but they have satisfied Exchange requirements for knowledge of the securities business, and they'll be glad to give you their opinions.

DON'T be afraid to tell the broker how much you can invest. Discuss your aims with him. Ask him about some of the famous companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange. He'll be glad to help you.

DO send for our free booklet, "INVESTMENT FACTS." This booklet records more than 400 stocks that have paid a cash dividend every three months for 20 years or longer. It describes the Monthly Investment Plan, by which you may invest with as little as $40 every three months. And it offers much other valuable information about investing. Just mail the coupon; we'll send you a copy free.

Changing Assessment System

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

First the annexation and public utilities committee of the Chamber of Commerce and now the Lincoln Chamber Industrial Development Corp. have endorsed a vote on a new tax assessing system at the time when Lincoln citizens are asked to approve a new form of government. It is unfortunate that this has happened because the situation will only confuse people and accomplish nothing. It is possible, too, that it could result in the defeat of the proposed new strong mayor form of government.

The new form is proposed by the Lincoln League of Women Voters and should be decided upon its own merits. The conflict with the assessment situation lies in the fact that there is no relation between the two things. The strong mayor plan of government has nothing at all to do with the dual system of city and county assessment of real estate for taxation purposes. There is only one point in the new form of government at which the matter of taxation by the city is even touched. This point makes no change in the basic system of assessment as it now exists.

The new form of government must set forth the duties and responsibilities of the City Council and part of this includes the authority of the council to sit as the Board of Equalization for the purpose of equalizing city tax assessments. One new provision permits the board to act during the year as well as at the initial time of annual assessments so that new property can be added to the tax rolls at any time.

But the November vote will be on form of government, not assessment figures. It is quite true that the city and county are not operating efficiently when they both assess property for taxation. It would be quite proper, efficient and more convenient to the public if there were only one assessment, one tax deadline and one place to pay taxes.

But this is not a question to be settled by a public opinion poll such as the Chamber Committee and the LCIDC now are advocating. For the voters to express themselves on whether they want the dual assessment system continued wouldn't settle a single thing. It is silly even to ask this question as everyone knows we want the dual system eliminated. If the question is to be voted upon, it should be based on submission to the voters, of a complete program, not a popularity poll on their feelings. There has never been such an election as is proposed on this subject and we fail to understand how these two normally intelligent groups of people arrived at the position they now hold.

The question is not what we want but how we get what we all know we want. If we had a firm plan in mind for consolidation of the city and county assessing systems, there might not be a great evil in submitting it along with the strong mayor plan of government. But we don't have any such plan. And the consolidation program is so full of problems it is highly doubtful that the matter could be settled in time to have a vote on the question in November. There is the first question as to whose assessments shall be used. The predominant opinion seems to be that the county figures would be used and perhaps it is essential that it be that way. But not everyone is ready to accept the county assessments for use by the city.

Much is made of the so-called "scientific appraisal" by the county but it might be pointed out that this is nothing but a slogan. The county appraisal is no more scientific than is the city's. The county appraisals have been made by independent outside experts but the city assessments are also made by an expert who uses the same guidelines used by the county.

But the city and county do not share the same thinking on the relationship of commercial and residential property. Nor are the two the same in the equalization of the actual values they set on property. As a result, the county is lower on business and higher on residential property than is the city. The difference is such that a recent survey showed the city assessments on residential property would increase approximately 10 per cent if county assessments were used.

A lot of people are not yet ready to accept this hike in residential and cut in business property taxes just to have a consolidated system. County assessments are no more right than are city assessments. In addition to this, there are a host of other problems such as different assessing and taxing periods, facilities to permit a physical consolidation of offices, complications with the city's bonded debt and others. Thus, there is no more reason to vote on this question of assessments in November than there is to vote on it at any time in the future or than there had been to vote on it in the past. To raise the issue now is only to muddy the waters of the election on form of government.

Secondly, there can be no intelligent and constructive vote until a firm plan has been worked out and this hasn't been done. All of the above problems cannot simply be swept under the rug. The city and county have each appropriated $5,000 toward a study of the taxing consolidation proposal. This study was urged and recommended by the Chamber of Commerce but hasn't been made yet. All of this makes it most premature to talk now of any vote on the question of dual assessments.

Areas Of Conflict

Half Finished Task

A year ago the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission planned to build a sewage disposal plant on the Maryland shore, across the Potomac, from Mount Vernon.

It is good news to report that the plans were finally changed and the plant will be built elsewhere. The primary reason was that Congress authorized purchase of 540 acres including the plant site. It felt the pressure from so many who, for aesthetic reasons, opposed marring the vista from the lawn of Mount Vernon with a disposal plant. But now that the site has been changed the Congress has also dropped its action. The authorization still exists, but no funds were appropriated.

Historically such mansions as Mount

Vernon faced rivers. Their front yards swept to the water's edge and care was taken that the view beyond the river should be pleasing and in aesthetic harmony with the home and yard themselves. In those days it was both for the sake of beauty and utility. The rivers were the thoroughfares.

Certainly, George and Martha Washington never had in mind for themselves or any of their descendants the task of gazing from their lawn at the wonders of sewage disposal going on across the river. One cannot believe that that would be the ultimate masterpiece of their dreams for the new republic. Their highest wish must have been to preserve the view as nature made it. This would rule out anything that might give offense.

The Weight Of Words

Cordiality was the keynote when new Soviet ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, presented his credentials to President John F. Kennedy. The two exchanged statements of hope for a peaceful settlement of all issues within the framework of justice for all. But the words were but a part of the protocol of relationships between nations for in the background was anything but the cordiality with which Dobrynin met President Kennedy.

Just the day before he met Dobrynin, the President was discussing at his news conference the Berlin situation. He pointed out that for Russia and the U.S. to continue talking about Berlin was a highly advisable thing. The strain in relations caused by Berlin is evident in this position of the President. Obviously, we are not very close to agreement when we consider it real progress only to be able to continue talking about a subject.

Still, communications on a subject is a wonderful thing because, just like people, nations cannot discuss their differences forever without finding some areas of agreement. So long as we can continue to talk about Berlin, it means there is still hope that the conflict there can be resolved. It means that the end of the line has not been reached for either country.

The situation is just as much a stalemate as it has always been and neither the U.S. nor Russia has shown any inclination to change its basic positions. But if a fatal clash can be avoided through talking, there is hope that time and changing circumstances may show us the way to an ultimate answer to the problem of Berlin. Talk, in this case, is certainly not cheap.

Functions Not Leisure

Steel executives and union representatives seem content enough with the new contract agreements arrived at last week. The public seems relieved to learn that there will be no strike and the administration has had praise for the negotiators.

Two things stand out. There was no work stoppage. There will be no immediate ate pay raises. Instead, there will be improved pension, layoff benefits, grievance procedures, longer vacations and minimum pay guarantees. When one examines those things it seems to be begging the question to say that pay schedules were undisturbed. Whether pay is expressed in an hourly wage or in longer vacations with pay, or minimum pay or pensions the net result is a greater charge for the same or less work. It all adds up in the cost of production.

Certainly it is an improvement to produce with less toil. It is a proper reward of our modern technological society that men need not work themselves to exhaustion to produce less than they can do in a few hours in a mechanized environment. Such liberation is one of the high aims. But there seems to be an added mandate. What use shall be made of the released time? Subsidized idleness does not seem to be the indicated thing during a world struggle where the adversary is straining every muscle to win. One might suggest that if workers must be restrained from producing two months out of twelve then the work force is one-sixth too great. New and needed functions are called for so that the total activity of the nation is utilized. It is by useful activity that we shall beat the adversary and not by agreements that protect and support too many in a given field of activity. That has been tried before and has resulted in a sterile and decadent society.

Kefauver Fails To Get JFK Aid

WASHINGTON — Medicine means as much to the President of the United States these days as it does to the average American. For instance, one of the family of steroids which President Kennedy takes for his troublesome back is Prednisone, which is manufactured by McKesson-Robbins for $8.99 per thousand 5-milogram tablets, then sold to the druggist for $170 and to the consumer for $225.

So when Sen. Estes Kefauver went down to the White House to talk to advisers who were writing the President's consumer message to Congress, he should have struck a responsive note.

Kefauver, however, didn't get very far. The White House staff would not go for the most important part of the Kefauver bill aimed at reducing the high price of drugs. This is the provision which requires drug patents to be leased to other drug manufacturers on a royalty basis after three years of exclusive use.

The automobile industry shares new inventions with competitors, but not the drug industry. Where pain and suffering are involved, the drug industry is nowhere near as progressive as other industries, and the Tennessee senator during 20 months of hearings showed how some of the most important new drugs had been sold to the public at shocking prices. The corner drugstore was not to blame, rather the patents of the big drug companies.

In the antibiotics field, Kefauver showed that various antibiotics cost only 1.7 cents to make, but are sold to the druggist for 30 cents and to the public for 50 cents.

He showed that a thousand 0.25 milligram reserpine tablets, the generic name for a widely used sedative and tranquilizer, cost McKesson and Robbins only 63 cents to make, but are sold to druggists for $39.50 and to the consumer for $65.83.

McKesson and Robbins' annual sales, incidentally, run around $670,000,000.

However, the White House staff felt that the heart of the Kefauver bill—the patent-sharing provision—was too controversial for President Kennedy. So he ducked this in his consumer message to Congress.

The President still faces a showdown over drugs, however. For whether or not the Kefauver drug bill passes will depend largely upon the White House.

Thanks to clever footwork by the big drug companies, some of whom contributed thousands of dollars to election campaigns, the Kefauver bill has been shunted to the Patents Committee headed by deliberate Sen. "Honest John" McClellan of Arkansas. It was voted there at the motion of astute Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, whose constituents include executives of the giant Olin Mathieson industrial combine and its subsidiary, Squibbs. Together they contributed $100,000 to the Republican campaign chest in 1956, the last year adequate campaign accounts were kept.

White Was Personal Choice Of President

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's choice of Byron R. White of Colorado, 44, for the Supreme Court is strictly personal. The President was simply not ready to remake the court in his political image; he had not expected to be compelled so soon to initiate change there.

The ailing Judge Charles E. Whittaker, whom White replaces, is only 61, third youngest of the nine-man court. Whittaker had not been there long enough to make a profound impression and he was modestly moderate, a type which can be useful on an appellate bench but does not lead or lend itself readily to a category.

The President was both taken by surprise and under no pressure to name a particular style of judge. The same will not, incidentally, be true of some of the older judges; there is a considerable opinion here that the President already knows what he thinks about them.

In this instance he has achieved principally the placing of what politicians would call his own man on the court. This does not at all mean that the new justice will take his views from Kennedy or run to him with the court news, hot off the judicial grapevine.

But the two men are close in many ways; they owe one another a considerable debt. There is ample precedent for a President to look to a member of the court for counsel, as President Truman did with Chief Justice Vinson.

Besides, only the most naive could believe that the court, under our system, has ever operated in a lofty vacuum, far from the madding crowd and the power elite here. Justice Frankfurter is justly famous for getting there firstest with the mostest access to certain sectors of what might be called the establishment. Others of his colleagues have their own following.

Regarding White as a judge, there is no judicial record or even a substantial record of his conduct as a lawyer from which to draw a forecast of his opinions. His academic record is notable and he is a hard worker.

Washington found it rather interesting that he should appear to be, both in the Kennedy campaign and in the Justice Department, a cautious and plodding type. This is not usual in men or women who have led their class consistently at such varied places as the Colorado public schools and Yale law school. Rhodes scholars also tend to show considerable self-confidence in their judgments.

Then there is that matter of commitment, so often raised in connection with readings of the President's character. Nobody seems to sense White's commitments to public policy, and White has been demonstrably an apt pupil but he does not seem the disciple type.

THEY WALKED WITH CHRIST

The Boy Obsessed

Because Scripture refers to this unfortunate boy as a "lunatic," some modern writers have asserted that the child was merely afflicted with epilepsy.

They argue that in Greek usage the term (meaning to be moonstruck) was commonly applied to that disease.

However, the New Testament account is unequivocal in stating that the boy was possessed by an unclean spirit:

"He rebuked the foul spirit, saying unto him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee, come out of him and enter no more into him."

"And the spirit cried and rent him sore, and came out of him: and he was as one dead; insomuch that many said, He is dead."

The child's father had previously brought the boy to Jesus' disciples to be healed, but they were unable to cure him. "I spake to thy disciples that they should cast him out, and they could not."

From the description of the boy's symptoms, related by the father, we know that he was not only given to seizures in which he foamed at the mouth, but that he was deaf and dumb. During his attacks, he often endangered his own life by falling into the fire or into the river or lake.

Mark, in his gospel, points out that it was the father's faith which made it possible

"There came to Him a certain man, kneeling down to Him, and saying, Lord, have mercy on my son: for he is lunatic, and sore vexed..." —Matthew XVII:14-15 for his son to be healed. "Jesus said unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth."

And in response to Jesus, the boy's father cried out, with tears in his eyes: "Lord, I believe, help thou my unbelief."

The result of this father's humble, but powerful faith, was the expulsion of the evil that controlled his son.

Was such a cure merely evidence of the healer's art, or was it the will of God that banished demons?

For those who believe that Scripture is true, Jesus that day commanded a "foul spirit" to come out of a child, "and the child was cured from that very hour."

Nursing Homes

Outstate Nebraska Nancy Ray's articles on the aged were wonderful. I wish while she is at it, she could also do a sincere series of articles on the problems of the nursing home operators. Most of us could do so much more, were we not hampered by the iron thumb of the Division of Hospitals and Board of Health—neither of whom will give an inch. We need a distinctly different set-up for nursing and care homes.

Here is my problem. I spent many years operating my home, a nice, friendly, warm place, and all the doctors here, plus the hospital executives and the entire community were proud of my accomplishments. Because of personal adversities, I had to sell. Later I had to take the property back, with a large debt against it—and was refused a care home license unless I installed a huge elevator and also seven-foot corridors on the second floor!

I had never kept helpless people above the first floor, but had large, airy, lovely rooms for them on the first floor. Now I am obliged to keep only self-care people. The doctors want me to get my care license back because they desperately need this place in full operation. If I take a county self-help patient, I must accept him for $50 a month. I won't, because I refuse to lower my standards. So all my patients were moved out. I have a boarding home license now, which is not adequate. Every patient that was moved was able to care for himself, but because they took medicine, I could not keep them without a nursing home license. I could have kept every one of them for $75 or $80 a month, but because of one stupid regulation, this type of patient is placed in nursing and care homes costing the state from $90 to over $100. Does that make sense?

As it stands now, I must stick to private paying guests or take old-age recipients for $50 to $55 per month, or they get sent out of town, away from their families, and the VIP's don't give a hoot.

Not only that, unless I get my patient list built up, I will lose many years of hard work and every cent I ever had and all my property—and all the hospital division said was, "That's tough." One member of the board informed me they intend to close every private nursing home in the state within five years.

Now, these small homes are what old folks want. They come from homes, they want to spend their last years in homes and die in them. They have earned the right to be treated as human beings and live in their own communities among people they know. It is not fair to put them in huge fancy buildings and turn them into statistics. I wish I had the resources to do nothing but travel over the country and try to teach the powers that be that old folks, regardless of age and senility, are not that way by choice and they are humans—not vegetables!

Rocking The Boat

Lincoln, Neb. Barry Goldwater is not a conservative. He is a radical. He is anxious to tear our tax system to pieces to meet the interests of our wealthy classes. He is willing to risk war just to show we don't like communism.

We would essentially destroy our foreign aid program that even he has to admit saved Europe. He is opposed to foreign trade pacts to accommodate us to the new European trade federation. He says the John Birchers are nice people even though he has not yet joined up. He wants to give back to the states most of the powers they lost in the Civil War, including control over civil rights.

The sum of Goldwater's platform adds up to revolution, not reform. He is a pleasant gentleman and a spacious advocate. He looks harmless and talks sweetly, but his platform would land us nearer the administration of Calvin Coolidge than that of Jack Kennedy or Ike Eisenhower.

We have too much to lose to try to go back. In spite of wars, hot and cold and Korean, we are doing all right.

Never before in history have so many people lived together in such harmony and luxury as we are now doing in the United States. Our national earnings are more than $500 billion a year. The one-third of our people who Franklin Roosevelt complained were ill-housed and ill-fed have almost disappeared.

Each year we are improving the education of our people and making progress in civil rights. We don't want a political messiah to change the direction of our history. We are really too conservative to risk it even for so plausible a fellow as Senator Barry Goldwater. Where Goldwater ever found the dictionary or the books or the logic to call his program conservative is hard to see. Properly looked at, he is a radical. His fellow partisans should beg him to sit down and stop rocking the boat.

Example And Belief

Lincoln, Neb. "No greater love hath a man than he who will lay down his life for his sheep." These are the words of Christ who found it necessary to do so in order to prove to mankind God's great love for them.

The life of Christ was expressed as an example for Christian living for all who call themselves Christian. "Come, follow me" and "He who gains his life shall lose it, but he who loses his life for my name's sake shall find it." Is this the secret for eternal life? But certainly no one can deceive God. "The wages of sin is death," and deceit is also sin.

Be certain that you are not deceiving yourself or that you are not being grossly deceived by others or by your church. Jesus tells us to "Beware of false prophets..." Please read Matthew 7:15-27 in this regard. In fact, all of Jesus' Sermon on the Mount, Matthew 5:3 to 7:27 holds a great message for us, although it may be difficult to live up to.

As we approach this Easter season, let us be mindful of One who found it necessary to give His life for us in order that we should not perish if we believe on Him. But of course, this belief involves example.

At 70, Retired Builder Invents Two-Wheeled Skates

By ROBERT PETERSON

Many folks claim age kills creativity. So let's dispel this myth by citing the story of an old gentleman destined to be known as the father of the two-wheeled roller skate.

"The idea hit me at three o'clock one morning," said Robert Warner, 77, a retired builder when I called at his second-floor factory in Stamford, Conn.

"It was shortly after I'd turned 3 score and 10. I was lying in bed thinking retirement wasn't much fun and that I ought to start a little business. Out of the blue I got this idea for two-wheeled roller skates.

"It was so vivid that I got up and drew a diagram of the mechanics involved. Then the next morning I began working on it. Several days later I finished a crude working model which I tried out myself and which worked perfectly. Then I had some children try the skates and they loved them."

He handed me one of his skates to examine. It's mounted on a shoe and resembles an ice skate except that what appears to be the runner is actually a hollow section enclosing two wheels which protrude about an inch below the casing.

I asked how his skates are superior to the standard four-wheel variety. "They're less cumbersome and quieter, and they offer less surface traction. In fact, they give you much the same sensation as ice skating. With these skates you can enjoy the equivalent of ice skating winter and summer."

"I showed my working model to dozens of people, figuring someone must have thought of this before. But everyone told me it was the first time they'd seen such a skate. So I gave my diagrams to a patent attorney who helped me obtain a fully-protected patent awarding me the exclusive right for 17 years to manufacture two-wheeled roller skates.

"Getting into production was slow and costly. I decided to manufacture them of aluminum zinc alloy and this meant preparing dies. Then I had to have wheels made of composition rubber and nylon. I did most of the work myself and when I needed help called on three retired neighbors to lend a hand.

"To date I've put in six years of my time, and $30,000 in cash. Then in order to get cash to build an inventory I formed a corporation in which I now hold two-thirds of the stock. We put the skates on the market last month and have sold a hundred pair so far.

"I just wish I were 20 years younger," he said enthusiastically. "for I really feel these skates will catch on. They're the first new idea in skating in centuries. And with all the leisure time folks will have in the years ahead skating is sure to boom in popularity."

"I hope Warner makes a million from his idea. And even if he doesn't it's a cinch his invention has put bounce and vigor into his retirement years. His story demonstrated that inventiveness is not the exclusive prerogative of youth and that elders are quite capable of giving birth to new ideas crackling with freshness and promise.

Bank Clearings For Month Top Previous Month

Lincoln bank clearings for March surpassed February's by almost $5 million and those of March 1961 by about $5.5 million.

The two local banks that are members of the clearing house reported a total of $47,041,165 cleared in March.

The February figure was $42,284,297. The total for March 1961 was $41,569,927.

Compromise Law On Signs Sought

... TO CURB ABUSES

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

City officials and the local sign industry will apparently try again to come up with a compromise ordinance regulating signs with flashing, stroboscopic, beacon or pogostick lights.

The City Council Monday turned thumbs down on an ordinance proposed by the sign industry to replace one prohibiting these types of signs that was adopted last January.

Atty. Lloyd Marti told the council that the present ordinance "will crucify the sign industry and sign owners unless changed."

Marti said the proposed ordinance, developed by the sign industry in conference with the city sign inspector, would prohibit any illuminated sign or advertising device "which constitutes a nuisance."

City Pays

Mayor Pat Boyles pointed out council objections to the proposed section that would require the city to pay for any sign that "may be ordered removed upon a finding that such sign creates a dangerous situation."

The proposed ordinance would prohibit "additional advertising signs with brilliant flashes or sudden and transient outbursts or brilliant sustained light," but would permit existing signs to remain until damaged to 60% or more of its fair market value or unless removed by the city and "fair market value paid."

Several council members said the present ordinance should remain on the books unless a more suitable measure is found.

Councilman John Comstock, introducer of the present ordinance, predicted a more agreeable compromise ordinance than presented could be developed.

Meanwhile, a moratorium on the present ordinance prohibiting flashing and beacon signs will be continued.

Other council action on ordinances:

Jayne's Ring Found

Dallas, Tex. (AP)—Police closed the book on the short-lived case of actress Jayne Mansfield's missing $25,000 diamond ring. She found it in a commode.

Her husband, Mickey Hargitay, reported the 8-carat, single teardrop diamond missing Sunday night. The ring was reported found Monday in a commode in the home of Miss Mansfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peers.

Mayor Evicts Dwellers In Cellar Apts.

Mayor Pat Boyles signed with council approval Monday an order for the immediate vacation of two "cellar" apartments at 242 So. 18th.

Action followed a report by City Building Inspector Ed Vorhees and Fire Inspector Dallas Johnson.

They described the 2 two-room apartments as a serious fire hazard and as a health hazard to the occupants.

"The only escape routes for the 6 adults and 3 children are through the furnace room to cellar-door type entrances," Johnson said. "The rooms have only one window each, measuring two square feet. It would be virtually impossible for an adult to escape through a window."

Vorhees said the owner of the apartment house is North-east Investment Co., headed by Herb Heumann.

The mayor signed the emergency order under provisions of the city's minimum standards housing code. A hearing may be held later if requested by the property owner.

Council Calls For Bids On Elevator In City Library

The City Council Monday agreed to call for bids for an elevator in the new Bennet Martin Public Library.

Cost of the elevator plus installation work is estimated at $16,000.

Library Board representatives said the library also needs additional furniture costing about $16,000, but the board hasn't enough donated funds.

The council agreed the elevator is an "immediate problem," but that the additional furniture would be taken up at regular budget time.

Elevator installation during construction of the new library was described as considerably less expensive than after the building is completed.

Bid specifications for the new elevator will be prepared by the city purchasing agent in consultation with library officials.

OUR Names Ike As A Supporter Of Urban Renewal

The Organization for Urban Renewal (OUR) has emphasized the role played in the program by former President Eisenhower, Sens. Barry Goldwater and Everett Dirksen, and the late Nebraska Sen. Hugh Butler.

OUR noted that recommendations by Eisenhower were embodied in the Housing Act of 1954 under which urban renewal programs operate.

Goldwater, Dirksen and Butler were among the 59 senators who voted for the act.

Chauncey Barney, chairman of the OUR speakers bureau, said urban renewal "has had the support of both major parties and is written into their platforms."

A panel on "The New Age In Dentistry" was featured at Monday night's installation meeting.

Panel members were Drs. Chester F. Singer Jr., Samuel Weinstein, Richard E. Bradley, Earl Lampshire, Ralph C. Ireland and Robert York, moderator.

Director Reviews Varied Problems Of Social Agencies

Population growth, financial limitations, rapidly changing needs, and scientific and physical changes are the major problems that welfare and service organizations face today.

This is the opinion of Miss Margaret Berry, executive director of the New York City Federation of Neighborhood Centers and Settlements, who spoke to the Lincoln Community Council Monday.

With regard to the group's proposed federated center plan, Miss Berry pointed out that a so-called group-work council is an instrument by which needs may be brought together.

She said that "one of the exciting things about a city the size of Lincoln is that you can really see how things work."

"Use of this kind of face-to-face experience and use of this knowledge, it is possible for people to work together to see goals and contact each other."

She emphasized that in her opinion, public and private service organizations are interchangeable in many ways.

Wilken Will Address Wheat Growers Assn.

Carl H. Wilken, director of research for the National Foundation for Economic Stability, will address the Lancaster County Wheat Growers Assn. Tuesday evening.

President Wayne Marolf said the 8 p.m. meeting at the Equity Union Grain Co., 940 Calvert, is open to the public. Wilken will discuss the importance of a fair price structure for agricultural goods to the economy of Nebraska, Marolf said.

U.S. Chamber Man Blasted By Ag Official

A Nebraska farm leader has voiced strong objections to farmers and ranchers taking a back seat in the national economy.

Elton L. Berck of Lincoln, president of the Farmers Union of Nebraska, has issued an open letter of objection to Walter B. Garver of Washington, D.C., manager of the U.S. Chamber's department of agriculture and natural resources.

In the letter, Berck charges Garver made assumptions on agriculture that are contrary to the public interest and highly dangerous to the strength and stability of the entire economic system.

Opposes Ag Act

The objections to Garver's statements developed following testimony he delivered March 9 before the House Committee on Agriculture on behalf of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in opposition to the Agricultural Act of 1962.

Berck took Garver to task for testifying that "managing supply to achieve price and income objectives constitutes monopolistic practices that the whole of our public opposes and which we believe the public will not tolerate if it understands it for what it is."

"We would ask Mr. Garver, if he is living in complete isolation from the facts of life that he may have failed to note that business and industry have been doing along this line for years—or is it wrong for farmers to do the same thing that the automotive and steel industries are doing?" asked Berck in his letter.

We cannot believe that Garver's testimony has the endorsement of the many local Chambers of Commerce in agricultural areas, Berck said.

"What sort of bargaining power can 3 million individual farm operators have in dealing for automobiles and trucks in a market wherein both supply and price are tightly managed by fewer than a half dozen major industrial producers?" Berck asked Garver.

Five-Year Wait Ahead

Swanley, Eng. (AP)—Richard Lawrence, 12, opened his piggy bank, went to an auction and bought a 1934 model automobile for four pounds ($11.30). His problem now: He has to wait 5 years for a license to drive it.

4 Lots Are Removed From Tax Rolls

The City Council Monday ordered 4 lots at 6820 Aylesworth that are occupied by a Boy Scout cabin removed from the city tax rolls.

City officials reported that a deed showing the property to be owned by the Bethany Lions Club has now been recorded.

Some weeks ago, the council had cancelled the property's tax-exempt status when records disclosed ownership to be in the name of an individual.

In other action, the council removed from the tax rolls a house at 1421 L, owned by St. Mary's Cathedral of Lincoln and occupied by nuns who are school teachers.

However, the council disapproved tax-exempt status for a house at 1407 L, also owned by St. Mary's Cathedral, but occupied by a caretaker.

Council action followed City Atty. Ralph Nelson's recommendations which he based on the recent Supreme Court decision in the Doane College case.

Sidewalk Display Of Autos Okayed For One Week

O'Shea-Rogers Motor Company's request for permission to display cars on the public sidewalk was approved Monday by the City Council.

The council approved the special permission for one week.

Several council members noted that city ordinance prohibits merchandising upon the public sidewalks.

However, one councilman quipped: "If O'Shea sells one of the display models, he'll drive it inside the building before accepting any money."

Muni Golf Links Road Bids Asked

The City Council called for April 18 bids on paving the access road and a new parking lot for Pioneer Municipal Golf Course.

The proposed parking lot will measure 100 by 125 feet. The access road from West Van Dorn is presently graded.

POSTCARD by Delaplaine

To dinner last evening in one of the small restaurants of the fashionable Chelsea district of London. English restaurants have improved wonderfully since the days of austerity—you can still get some awful cooking in the country but this is true of the bread-chicken - and - mashed - potatoes-route in the U.S.

of us in London manage to scrape along on less than $270 a day."

This, of course, is the crux of the matter. The travel people here didn't mind the Congressman flinging around the U.S. Government ready.

But it was a very unsporting thing to go home and talk about it.

It's bad for the tourist business.

Well, it keeps up the myth that Americans are the last of the big-time spenders. So it is possible that the American taxpayers got some value out of it.

As an old and desperate pencil man on the expense account, the part I sympathized with was the $90 a day on miscellaneous.

That is exactly the way my day's-end figuring comes out—the major part of what I haven't got left must have gone on miscellaneous.

At this point, there isn't a man in the world who doesn't begin to sluff some of the miscellany off on the dinner, the Twist club and the un-kinking morning after.

You tuck a little into taxi fares (or a high-powered Daimler).

And a pence here and there into heavy tipping.

Even so, you still come up with plenty of miscellaneous. And if the expense account looks high, you have to admit the Congressman made the old college try.

Dist. by The Chronicle Features

Prices are about half American rates, a first-class hotel dinner going for about $2.50 and the country hotel serving 5 courses at $1.50.

So it is the talk of the town that U.S. Congressman Richard Lankford turned in an expense sheet showing his meals averaged $27 each.

"It's an expensive city," said the Congressman.

The expense account also listed a Savoy hotel nudge at $68 per night; a chauffeur and Daimler (the Cadillac-plus of Britain) at $43; and $90 on miscellaneous — tips and that sort of thing.

This kind of publicity was shocking to the British Tourist Bureau.

Naturally, they want the visitors to bring a bundle to Britain. But they don't want to advertise that you have to spend it.

The room had a private bath which always costs more. (A visiting American film star flew home indignant and slightly dirty when he couldn't get a room with bath.)

Anyway, the rooms with bath are elegant. The Savoy is one of the rare hotels in the world that puts an extension telephone in the bathroom. This is a bit of swank.

If the Congressman picked up $68 a night, it was probably worth every penny of it.

"For that price," said the British travel people tartly, "we not only provide a public bath. They'll fill it up with asses' milk."

The travel people noted that Mr. Lankford spent $14 on a visit to a Twist club and $5.50 on physiotherapy getting the kinks taken out afterward.

"Thinking up a meal that costs $27 is no mean achievement, even in London," observed the London critics.

"Not everyone can do it. It takes imagination, a breadth of vision not given to your average $8-a-head expense account luncheon. Bird's nest soup, plovers' eggs, suckling pig, whole roast sheep—the mind boggles.

"Anyway, whatever it was the Congressman ate, we hope he enjoyed his stay here; we hope he's feeling fine; and, above all, we hope that someone will break it gently to his constituents, especially those who may visit us this summer, that even in 1962 some

Speed Of Emergency Vehicles Restricted

By TOM PERRY
Star Staff Writer

The last fire truck or ambulance you saw screaming down the street with its red lights on probably wasn't going as fast as you thought.

Ambulances are restricted to a top speed of 40 miles an hour on emergency calls in the city, according to the police department. Police cars also obey this rule, except during high-speed chases.

A top speed of 5 miles an hour going through a red light is the rule for ambulances and police cruisers.

Fire trucks go even slower.

Their top speed in the city is set at 35 miles an hour, according to Chief Roscoe A. Benton.

"Our trucks seem like they're going faster," said the fire chief, "because they make such a racket. Fire engines have straight-through exhaust pipes without mufflers."

Chief Benton explained that fire trucks are bought without mufflers so that their powerful exhausts can be used to prime pumps.

"A 300-horsepower engine with no muffler makes quite a noise," said the chief. "With that and the siren, people are bound to think a truck going to a fire is traveling pretty fast."

The Lincoln municipal code says that drivers should pull over to the right-hand curb (or the nearest curb on a one-way street) to make way for emergency vehicles sounding sirens.

Emergency vehicles are defined as those of the police and fire departments. But ambulances also have a special status.

An ambulance on an emergency call may pass through red lights and stop signs after the driver makes sure it's safe to do so. But ambulances may not exceed the speed limit beyond a small tolerance.

Emergency ambulances got their special status in 1956. After an accident involving an ambulance and a car driven by the wife of a city councilman, the city warned ambulance companies that it was illegal for them to speed or bypass stop signs and lights.

Ambulance operators took the city at its word, and for one night Lincoln was without emergency ambulance service. Five people injured in a highway accident were taken to a Lincoln hospital in an ambulance that stopped for every red light and stop sign.

The next day, the city told ambulance operators that no traffic tickets would be issued unless lack of care by an ambulance driver caused an accident.

Within a week, a meeting of city officials and ambulance operators produced agreement on the present ordinance.

Goldberg Bids For End To Ship Strike

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg appealed Monday for an early end to the West Coast shipping strike and then announced government settlement efforts are being shifted to San Francisco.

The secretary met with management and union principals Monday morning to deliver his personal appeal and this was followed by day-long sessions between the visitors and department personnel.

The secretary named a special panel to meet in San Francisco with representatives of the union shipping companies on Thursday, "to make a further effort to assist the parties in concluding a settlement."

He said he acted "with the President's approval."

Named to the panel were: W. Willard Wirtz, undersecretary of labor, chairman; Robert Moore, deputy director of the federal mediation and conciliation service; and James J. Healey, a Harvard university professor and maritime labor expert.

Goldberg said the Thursday meeting will open at 10:00 a.m. at the San Francisco office of the Mediation and Conciliation Service. The panel will report to Goldberg at noon Saturday on the result of the mediation efforts.

The strike, now in its third week, has damaged the West Coast economy and been especially severe on Hawaii, dependent on imports for most of its food and other supplies.

Shipping Strike Makes Island Housewives Edgy

Honolulu (AP) — Island housewives have become edgy as food supplies begin to vanish from market shelves, depleted by a shipping strike now in its third week.

President Kennedy has been told by a spokesman for island industry that Hawaii's construction and small business condition is "desperate" because of shrinking inventories and high operating costs.

"You cannot say we are starving," said an executive of Foodland supermarkets, one of the largest food chains in Hawaii. "But nothing is being replaced. The situation is critical."

He said rice was about gone from the shelves, while canned milk, widely used in infant formulas, is being rationed 12 cans to a customer.

"All our stocks of mainland vegetables are pretty well dwindled," he said.

Kauai Island reported rice, flour and canned milk gone from the shelves of markets and warehouses of all large food stores. Hawaii Island ran out of these items last week.

Clergy Asked To Vehicle Safety Meet

Governor Morrison said that invitations have been sent out to all clergymen within a 150-mile radius of Omaha to attend a governor's religious seminar on traffic safety in Omaha on April 30.

The seminar, the first of its kind in the state, will possibly be followed by a later meeting in North Platte, Morrison said.

It will be patterned after a tri-state conference on religious leaders on safety held in Sioux City, Iowa, last year. Representatives from Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota attended that meeting.

The Omaha conference will be sponsored by the Omaha Safety Council. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edmund C. Walsh of St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church, religious activities chairman for the Omaha council, is chairman of the conference.

Highlighting the program will be addresses by Morrison and Harold C. Holmes, religious activities director for the National Safety Council.

The day-long program will also include panel discussions in the morning and workshops in the afternoon.

Injunction Against State Ed Board Asked By Waltonians

Five Walton High School Patrons have asked Lancaster District Court to enjoin the State Board of Education from enforcing a March 21 order which dropped the school from the list of approved Nebraska high schools.

In a petition filed Monday, the 5 plaintiffs allege that the State Board's order, which denies school District 157 approval for collection of free high school tuition monies for students outside the district was issued contrary to law.

Not Proper

The plaintiffs stated that the order was contradictory to state law and the constitution and was "invalid" for failure to provide proper notice of a hearing.

The petition also alleges that the order, if put into effect, "would give the privilege and right to all students otherwise qualified and entitled to free high school education to seek admittance to any other school in any other district" and require the Walton District to pay for the tuition of such students.

Close School

The practical result of the order, according to the plaintiffs, would be to discontinue the operation of the Walton High School, and require students to seek admission to other high schools which would create a "personal hardship" to those students and parents.

JFK Attends Capitol Party; Then Visits Senate

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy dropped in on a party at the Capitol Monday and then paid a brief surprise visit to the Senate—where a member had just criticized Capitol parties.

Kennedy attended an informal reception given by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to inaugurate a new conference room in the East Wing.

The room had been opened to divert from the old Senate Chamber, which was occupied by the Senate from 1810 to 1859 and by the Supreme Court from 1860 to 1935, the cocktail parties and committee meetings which have been held there.

Detoured

After the reception—which featured two bars and a table loaded with food — the President detoured to a rear door of the present Senate chamber. Stepping barely inside the chamber, he looked over the almost vacant room briefly and left with a wave of the hand just about the time those present began to realize the President was there.

While the Mansfield's reception was going on, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., called in a Senate speech for a ban against serving hard liquor in any portion of the Capitol.

Morse called such parties a "desecration of public buildings belonging to the taxpayers of this country." He said cocktail affairs do not furnish "a good example for lawmakers to be setting for the youth of this country."

Splike Briefly

When Kennedy walked into the chamber, he went over briefly, said something to Morse, and then left immediately. In apparent reference to the few members on hand, he told Morse:

"That's the way it was when I left the Senate."

Only 4 Senators were present to hear a debate between Morse, and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif. The spectator and press galleries also were nearly empty when the President stepped in.

Kuchel was in the process of calling Morse "woefully wrong" and Morse was calling Kuchel "a son of a b—"

A debate over the San Luis, California, irrigation project in California.

At the reception in new walnut-paneled room where such affairs will be held in the future, Kennedy did not take a drink. However, most of his former colleagues were armed with cocktails or highballs when they shook hands with him.

Kennedy's visit to the reception had been a poorly kept secret. Everyone on stamping grounds for the first time since he took office.

State College Fund Formula Changed

... EMPHASIZING EARNED STUDENT CREDIT HOURS

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The State Normal Board Monday gave 5-1 approval to an alternate formula for allocating 1962-63 funds to the state's 4 teachers colleges which places increased emphasis on the number of earned student credit hours at each college.

Under the formula adopted, Kearney and Wayne colleges will receive more money in the second year of the current biennium, and the Chadron and Peru colleges will receive less than they did the first year.

Dr. Freeman B. Decker, coordinator of the 4 teachers colleges, presented 6 different allocation plans to the board—the basic plan which would have given each school its present basic administrative and housekeeping expenses, dividing the remainder on the basis of credit hours—and 5 alternates.

Each of the 6 plans incorporated the principle of dividing funds on credit hours, but all 5 alternates used different formulas for providing bases.

schools' credit hour basis. No such guarantee was made this year.

Under the allocations approved Monday, the 4 colleges will receive the following amounts (figures in parentheses indicate the 1961-62 allocation):

Chadron: $636,905, ($643,299).
Kearney: $1,053,386, ($1,007,001).
Peru: $522,891, ($552,992).
Wayne: $841,996, ($810,527).

In describing his basis proposal, Decker said he believed the credit hour basis was the "soundest" method of arriving at fund distribution, but he acknowledged the basic plan was "probably too drastic" an approach for the middle of a biennium, and stated that was why he offered the 5 alternates.

If the basic plan had been approved, Chadron would have received $614,185; Kearney, $1,083,507; Peru, $490,546, and Wayne, $866,939 for the coming year.

Decker later said that the "plan adopted certainly was acceptable to me as a compromise measure."

Refinancing Debt

During its meeting Monday, the board discussed the possibility of refinancing its present $9.8 million indebtedness and placing it into one package.

In an effort to obtain information on how this might be accomplished, the board visited with University of Nebraska Comptroller Joseph Soshnik to learn how NU had worked its recent refinancing of $4 million into a $16 million revenue bond issue.

The Normal Board then named a subcommittee to further investigate the refinancing idea.

The board also approved investigating revenue bond financing for a new food service building at Kearney estimated at approximately $780,000, and a new residence for the Kearney president at an estimated $45,000.

In other action, the board approved plans for a new physical education building at Chadron at an estimated $484,000 and agreed to take bids on it June 18. Bids also will be taken that date for a $700,000 library at Kearney.

Redistricting Ruling Could Affect State

rect the existing "invidious discrimination." Tennessee has no initiative and referendum.

Nebraska, of course, has the initiative and referendum.

Only Clark signed his concurring opinion and none of the other judges mentioned this point, so it is difficult to know whether he might speak also for others.

But it does raise the possibility that federal courts might not press Nebraska action on the basis that Nebraskans had not exhausted all other avenues of relief.

Difficult as it might be, voters in this state could—through application of the initiative—repeal the constitutional provision providing for redistricting by the Legislature, and enact a plan of their own.

Meyer said he "hope(s) Nebraska can work out any problems without taking the matter to court."

Such action would be "an expensive procedure for both sides" and likely would result in "a long, drawn-out" affair, the attorney general noted.

Stalemate At Geneva Deplored

... By Middle-Groupers

Geneva (P)—Four middle group nations in the Geneva disarmament conference expressed regret and annoyance Monday at the inability of the big powers to agree on a nuclear weapons test ban.

Delegations of Burma, Ethiopia, India and Sweden deplored the nuclear stalemate in a 3-hour session of the 17-nation gathering. This was the most pointed comment voiced thus far by the smaller powers.

Neutral diplomats said the conference came up with no solution. The gulf separating the Soviet Union from the United States and Britain on the control issue seemed even deeper than it appeared last week.

Blizzard, Flood Victims To Talk On Wednesday

Governor Morrison urged all counties affected by the blizzard and flood emergency to send representatives to a meeting Wednesday in Norfolk.

The meeting will be held at the National Guard Armory and will begin at 2 p.m.

The agenda will include a discussion of disaster relief and watershed control. Participating will be representatives of the military department, U.S. Small Business Administration, Farm Home Loan Administration, Agricultural Stabilization Commission, Office of Emergency Planning, Region 6, Army Corps of Engineers, and Bureau of Reclamation.

Good Will Visit

Beirut, Lebanon (P)—Several units of the American 6th Fleet including the aircraft carrier Saratoga steamed into Beirut harbor for a good will visit. The visit, planned long in advance, is not related to the Syrian unrest. Aboard the cruiser Springfield is Vice Adm. David McDonald, 6th Fleet commander.

Jury Panel Chosen For Dosek Trial

A panel of 9 women and 3 men were selected Monday to serve on the jury in the trial of Lincoln attorney Edwin F. Dosek, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses and conspiracy.

An alternate juror will be selected Tuesday morning before the trial begins.

The jury members are: Mrs. Lora Songer, Mrs. Margaret Cunningham, Mrs. Georgia Jones, Mrs. Lydia York, Mrs. Virginia L. Albers, Henry F. Gies, Rex R. Heldebrand, Mrs. Margaret R. Johnson, Mrs. Dorothy A. Miller, Delmar D. McClarmen, Mrs. Mary A. Rea and Mrs. Jane B. Johnson.

Dosek, who has pleaded innocent to both counts, is represented in the case by Lincoln attorney Farley Young and W. O. Baldwin of Hebron.

County Attorney Paul Douglas is expected to present opening statements to the jury Tuesday morning.

District Judge John Zeilinger of York is presiding over the case since all Lancaster District judges disqualified themselves.

Amazing Hair Cream - Conditioner Tones Down Grayness Hair Looks Young Again without changing your natural hair color!

Easy to use: Apply as regular hair dressing. Changes gray, streaked, drab, dull hair gradually to the young looking color it had before it turned gray. So natural looking, no one, not even you, can tell you are using anything but a fine hair dressing. Does not change your natural hair color, only brightens it. Not a coal tar dye, but a special hair cream that keeps the gray away by replacing lost color and oils so vital to young healthy looking, well groomed hair. For Men & Women.

WOES AND BOWS

Note to the not-so-young... hair-bows aren't just for teen queens this year! Tiny comb-back black velvet bows (bought at the dimestore, or made at home) can "tack up" a falling hair-strand, to anchor curls that won't turn right. They're 'specially smart in silver hair.

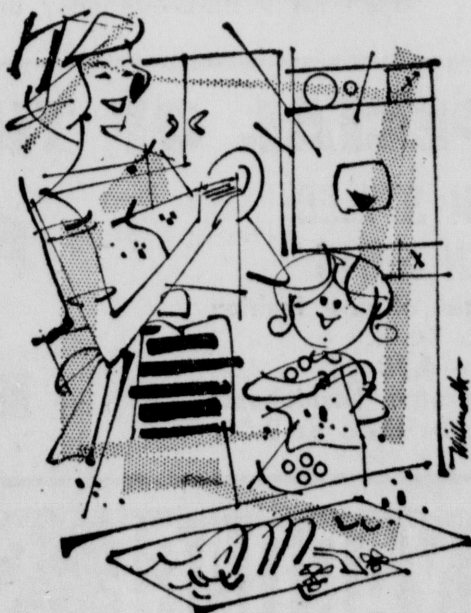

NO-CRACK PACK

Mrs. Frank B. Chellis of Minneapolis sent this moving idea: China travels chip-free, when packed in bath and dish towels! Never wrap too tightly, nor fit dishes too close for safe shipping.

RANGE IN VIEW

Guess what's going to happen to gas ranges! Designers borrowed pyro-ceramic material from space-age nose cones. Now they're experimenting with a burner-free range top! Someday you'll fry sans the pan, right on your range, while gas keeps temperatures perfect, beneath. But that's tomorrow! Right now a smart "gold star" gas range will make you feel miles-ahead in modern living. Visit your local gas company or gas appliance dealer. There'll be stars in your eyes!

GOLDEN MAPLE CORN

"Try it, to believe it!" crooned Mrs. Burdette Baldwin of Waterloo, Iowa. I did—and I'll double that praise. Beat 4 eggs till foamy. Add 1/2 cup maple syrup. Melt and add 1/4 lb. butter. Beat well. Pour over 2 frozen 10-ounce packages of whole kernel corn, in greased baking dish. (Don't thaw corn!) Bake one hour, or till crusty-brown, in a 350-degree gas oven. Stir just once, while corn absorbs that butter-melting bath. Serves six.

TALK

Town talk has a speculative angle these days — When are the travelers returning home, and will the west coast dock strike change the plans of some who have gone to far away places in the Pacific?

We have no answers concerning the Pacific, but we do have news of homecomers.

We learned, for instance, that the past week end brought Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schorr, Jr., home from Florida where they had a two weeks holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Schorr spent most of their time at Ft. Lauderdale, but did devote a few days to Tampa and the Florida Keys.

We have more news of the Schorr family this morning and it involves Miss Judy Schorr who will be arriving on Friday from Claremont, Calif., where she is attending Scripps College, to spend her spring vacation with her parents.

Returning today from Los Angeles, Calif., will be Mr. and Mrs. Ellis W. Mockett who went to the west coast to attend the wedding of their daughter, Miss Ann Mockett and Arthur F. Johnson, which took place on Monday morning.

Auxiliary Election

New officers were elected by the members of the Lincoln Dental Society Auxiliary Monday evening when the group met at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Holland for a dessert supper and evening of cards.

Heading the group for the coming year will be (from left) Mrs. B. J. Moran, president; Mrs. R. C. Brockley, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Wayne Harm, vice president.

The Lincoln Lay Diabetics Society has announced a new series of cooking classes, planned for all who are interested in diabetics and their care.

The series, to be instructed by Miss Anna Smrha of the State Department of Health and Welfare, will meet at 7:30 o'clock in the evenings at Consumers Public Power on the first and third Tuesdays in April, and the first and second Tuesdays in May.

NU Coed Plans Spring Wedding

Announcing plans for a late April wedding is Miss Barbara Jean Anderson of Hastings, Kappa Alpha Theta at the University of Nebraska, who will become the bride of Richard L. Youngs-cap on Monday, April 23.

The wedding will take place at a 7:30 o'clock evening service, to be solemnized at the First Presbyterian Church in Hastings.

The bride-to-be has chosen her sister, Miss Kay Anderson, as her main of honor, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Kay Conway of San Francisco; Miss Marjorie Morehouse of Fremont; and Miss Nancy Campbell, Omaha. Mrs. Ben Prieb of Lincoln will be the bridesmatron.

Lighting the candles will be Miss Linda Hogeland of Beatrice, and Miss Marlene Spady of Hastings.

Fred Youngs-cap will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be Charles Wilson of Chicago; Gary Cadwallader, Minneapolis; and Dick Kelly, Omaha.

State Conventions Scheduled and 8. Miss Peden will address the delegates at the convention banquet on Saturday evening at the Pawnee Hotel, and luncheon speaker on Saturday will be Miss Olive Huston of Xenia, Ohio, director of speech and dramatics of the Xenia High School.

Mrs. Evelyn Rankin of North Platte, state president, will preside at the organization's 44th annual convention, and serving as general chairman will be Mrs. Robert Spooner, president of the North Platte B. PW Club.

The 40th annual convention of the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers will be held in Omaha, May 3 and 4, with Mrs. George E. Robertson of Omaha, presiding.

Featured convention speakers will be Dr. Evelyn Duvall of Chicago, Ill., author, teacher and family life consultant; and Dr. Lyle Ashby, native of Guide Rock and now deputy executive secretary of the National Education Association.

Nominated for president of the state organization is Mrs. Ralph W. Beechner of Lincoln, currently first vice president of the Nebraska PTA, and named as candidate for the office of first vice president is Mrs. William E. Nichol, Jr., of Scottsbluff.

Candidates for district directors are Mrs. Maurice Frank, Omaha, Mrs. Vernon Shamburg, Fairbury, and Mrs. Gene Ransom, Kearney.

The two-day convention also will include a series of workshops and panel discussions and speakers will be Dr. J. B. Culpepper of Tallahassee, Fla., national PTA committee chairman;

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

Well here we are in the month of showers and April, it seems, will have a full calendar of activities. We know many interesting things this morning, however, we really should catch up on some recent news.

EASTMONT

Understand that Mrs. Lawrence Coy was hostess at her home at a noon luncheon followed by an afternoon of bridge on Thursday, March 22. Guest of honor at the informal event was a former Lincoln resident, Mrs. Douglas Hall of Omaha.

Included among the guests, in addition to Mrs. Hall, were Mrs. Max L. Schuster, Mrs. Harold Fouts, Mrs. Robert A. Barlow, Mrs. Kep Harding, Mrs. David Thompson, and Mrs. Don Trumble.

Still in the news of the Coy family, we learned that Mrs. Coy was honored on her birthday last Thursday at a family dinner at the University Club. Host and hostess for the evening were Mr. Coy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Coy.

EASTBOROUGH

March newcomers to Eastborough were Lt. and Mrs. Dale West, who have moved to 300 Prestwick Road. Lt. and Mrs. West moved to Lincoln from Homestead Air Force Base, Fla., in January. Previous to finding their new home, they resided at Trenridge Apartments.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

We learned that Mr. and Mrs. Al Daniels, Jr., and son, Rocky, returned to Lincoln Sunday, March 18, after a visit with friends and relatives in South Dakota.

The travelers spent a week in Spearfish, S.D., where they were the houseguests of Mr. Daniels' mother, Mrs. Albert Daniels. They also visited his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Schenk, before returning home.

En route to Lincoln, they stopped in Huron, S.D., for a visit with Mrs. Daniels' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Schmal. While there, they were joined by Mrs. Daniels' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Albertus and her brother Dan, of Sioux Falls, S.D.

In the news of the crib set, we have word from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Northup which tells us of an addition to the Northup family—Miss Beverly Jo Northup who arrived at Lincoln General Hospital on Friday, March 16. Beverly, came home last Thursday to be greeted by her brother, Bradley, who is 18 months old.

The young lady's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Borg of Holdrege. Mrs. Borg arrived in Lincoln on Thursday, March 22 for a visit with her new granddaughter and the family.

Beverly's paternal grandparents are Mrs. Evelyn Creek of Lincoln, and George Northup of North Platte.

The young lady's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Borg of Holdrege.

EASTRIDGE

Celebrating her fifth birthday last Saturday was Miss Diane Pohlman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pohlman, who chose to celebrate the anniversary by entertaining six friends at the matinee showing of "Pinocchio." After the movie, the group returned to the Pohlman home for birthday cake and ice cream.

Entertaining the Margo Drive Bridge Club on Thursday night at 8 o'clock will be Mrs. E. H. Schumacher. During the evening, a dessert supper will be served.

Invited for the evening of cards are Mrs. Edward O. Kay, Mrs. Leland Van Boskirk, Mrs. R. H. Van Boskirk, Mrs. Don Chandler, Mrs. Everett E. Peterson, Mrs. W. H. Schwartz, Mrs. Richard Duxbury, Mrs. El-

Ann Mockett Was Monday Bride

Only the immediate members of the families attended the wedding of Miss Ann Mockett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wright Mockett of Lincoln, and Arthur Frederick Johnson of Boulder, Colo., and New York, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Charles Johnson, which took place on Monday morning, April 2. The 11 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Robert A. Tourigny at the St. Francis Church, Episcopal, Palos Verdes, Calif., and the lines of the service were read before an altar appointed with white carnations.

Mrs. Robert E. Mockett of Long Beach, Calif., as her sister-in-law's matron of honor and only attendant, was frocked in organza over taffeta in the aqua tone. Beneath the slender, widely-belted waist a peplum of the organza simulated a brief tunic effect over the sheath skirt of daytime length. A frock-toned circlet held in place her brief, circular veil, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and ivy strands.

Hugh McBride of Los Angeles served Mr. Johnson as best man, and Dr. Robert E. Mockett seated the guests.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace. The bodice, designed with a sabrina neckline and bracelet-length sleeves, was smoothly fitted above the bouffant, ballerina-length skirt of unpressed pleats. A calot of lace held to the head her shoulder-length circular veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis.

Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Mr. Johnson was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Annual Supper

The annual girls' supper and program of the Southwest Community Center will be held Wednesday evening, from 5:30 o'clock to 8:30 o'clock, at the center.

The program will feature a demonstration by the Lincoln Police dogs, and also will include a fashion show, games and songs.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sharrick have returned home from an extended trip to southern states which began early in February. The Sharricks visited in Wichita, Kan., as the guests of Judge and Mrs. John Free, then on to Walters, Okla., to visit friends. In Dallas, Tex., the travelers were the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bernbaum, and of past international presidents of Optimists, William C. Pierce and Mrs. Pierce, Dallas, and Warren Day and Mrs. Day, Ft. Worth. In New Orleans, the Sharricks attended a family reunion at the home of Mrs. Sharrick's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jones, and en route home, they toured the Ozarks, and visited Mrs. Sharrick's mother, Mrs. L. J. Jones, in Kansas City.

It Seams To Me

For The Short And Round

Patricia Scott

If you're a short junior (a little too round for your height) or a short full half-size, I imagine your goal is to look taller and slimmer. With the help of optical illusion, you can get some flattering effects. This can be done by wearing special lines that will give you the appearance of being taller and slimmer though you haven't grown an inch or lost a pound. Learn these tricks and use them at all times.

The most important thing is to keep the eye of the beholder going up and down . . . never across. Let's look at the boxes in the illustration. The one on the top right, forming a "Y," is a good example of the up and down line with a slight break at the neckline. The dress illustrates a way of carrying out this line. The straight line at the center front, can be a plain or a decorative seam, braid trim, button front closing or decoration, etc., from hem to "V" neckline. The point is that the eye follows this straight, vertical line, giving you a longer look and cutting you in half straight up the center . . . not across. The "V" neck can be wide, as shown, or a normal "V," as long as it comes to a point. Rounded scooped necklines will immediately bring the eye across, giving you a broader look.

The boxes at the bottom, illustrate three more lines you can use. The first, a straight one from hem to neckline, is a wonderful line. It can be executed in a simple sheath with the center front line running straight up, ending in a collarless jewel neckline. It can either button down the front from neckline to waist, or all the way down. The second shows two lines running down the front of a coat or dress. These two lines can be buttons, braid, seam or stitching detail. The third goes from one shoulder across the front bodice, down to the waistline and then down to the lower hip. For instance, visualize a two piece dress with a slim skirt and a top that is a belted wrap. Be sure not to confuse this with the surplus bodice that also has a similar diagonal line. The surplus front gives a shorter, rounded appearance, the opposite of that for which you are striving. The surplus starts at one shoulder from a wide neckline . . . runs across the bodice, ending just below the bustline on the opposite side seam. The belted wrap jacket, starts at one shoulder from a natural shoulder seam (at the neckline) . . . wraps or overlaps across the bodice down to the waistline and continues to the lower hip. This will give you the long line you wish.

Your best necklines are "V" narrow square and collarless. Never wear designs with curves such as gathered skirts with petticoats or rounded hipline with detailing. Avoid wide belts and contrasting ones. Never use oversized details such as huge pockets, smack in the front, or very full sleeves. Keep details small, and lines simple.

Patricia Scott has prepared a booklet, HOW TO ALTER YOUR DRESS PATTERNS, which gives complete instructions for alterations will fit perfectly. For your copy of this guide to correct fitting, write to Patricia Scott in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.

Opening lead —four of hearts.

Maintaining control over trumps is the key to many a hand played in a suit contract. Declarer has to watch his step when repeated ruffs weaken his trump position.

South is in four spades and West leads a heart. Declarer plays low from dummy and ruffs East's ten. He enters dummy with a diamond, leads a spade, finessees the queen, and loses to the king.

Back comes a heart and South ruffs again. He is now at the critical point of the hand, and, if he slips, he goes down.

It would seem natural to draw trumps at this stage, but if South did this, he would lose the hand. Having ruffed hearts twice and led a round of trump, if he now drew East's remaining spades, he would be left with only one trump.

South could then cash his diamonds and play a club, but the defense would win the club and lead a heart to force out the last trump. Another club play would prove fruitless, since the defenders would take it and cash a heart to defeat the contract.

This dead end is bound to be reached if South extracts trumps after ruffing the second heart lead. To avoid the impasse, he should play a low club instead at trick five. Assume East takes the ten and leads another heart. Declarer ruffs, reducing himself to two trumps, and plays another club.

West wins with the king, but can do nothing to break the contract. If he plays a club or a diamond, South wins, draws trumps, and claims the rest. And if West returns a heart instead, declarer ruffs in dummy with the carefully preserved trump, crosses to his hand, and takes the rest of the tricks.

It can be argued that this line of play subjects South to a club ruff if the suit is not divided 3-3. The answer is that South cannot possibly make the hand if he loses control of trumps by drawing them prematurely, and he therefore has no choice but to play for a favorable club division.

Dear Abby

No "Good" Losers—Just Actors

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My son is on the high school basketball team. He's a good student and is well liked. His team hasn't won many games this season. Anyone in sports doesn't expect to win all the time, but our son is such a hard loser it is making me sick. When his team loses, he comes home and cries like a baby. No one can talk to him. His father and I think we should make him quit sports if he can't take a loss any better than that. Would it help if we punished him? He should learn how to be a good loser.

ONE BOY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: There are no "good losers"—just good actors. All athletes want to win, and feel badly when they don't. Let him have his cry. It won't hurt him half as much as being punished for expressing an honest emotion.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl and my problem is that I steal. It started recently with small things at the shopping center. Then I started taking things at the grocery-store and drug store. Now I am taking things from the big store downtown. I steal things I don't even need, just things I see and want at the moment. I never take more than two things at a time. I need help and there is no one else I can turn to except you. I don't want to grow up to be a common thief. I know it is wrong, but I can't stop. Can you help me?

SO ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: Not all people who steal things are "common thieves"—some are kleptomaniacs. Because you take things you don't need, you could have a compulsion to "steal." You can be helped if you really want to be. Tell your mother, honey. She'll know what to do.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SLEEPLESS NIGHTS": if your religion permits it, telephone your local PLANNED PARENTHOOD center and tell them what you have told me. The Lord doesn't want you to have any more children than you can feed.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers off to the right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Track Facial Veteran University of Nebraska track fans have long sung the praises of the NU outdoor cinder layout. It has been one of the finest track plants in the country—but no more. The Husker outdoor track needs a facial. During a visit to a workout session the other day, I noted some clinkers pushing through the surface. There were also some deep holes on the north curve. It was a shock, I'll confess, because the NU track has been renowned for excellence. Such was the fame of the Husker track that the NCAA and National AAU have voted their meets to Lincoln on numerous occasions. And until a few years ago, Nebraska always hosted the Big 8 (then 6 and 7, of course) each year.

'Worn Out'

What has happened to the NU track? Coach Frank Sevine supplies the answer easily enough, but the solution—at the moment—is not so easy. "The track is just worn out," Sevine said. "It simply needs a new top on it. In a lot of spots all of the top is worn off and the heavy cinder-clinker base is exposed." "Also, the west straightaway is about 4 inches below the east side," Frank continued. "It's not a case of the track not being cared for—the maintenance has been good. Walt Renter and his crew have done a great job in keeping the track in as good a shape as possible under the circumstances."

Wear And Tear

Sevine explained the main cause is that "nothing major has been done in the way of rebuilding the top of the track since I've been here (7 years)."

"We wanted to fix it up before the last NCAA meet here, but the cost estimates ran about $6,000 to $8,000 and Bill Orwig (then athletic director) decided against the expenditure," Sevine said.

"Frank, by the way, was answering my questions—not finding fault or blaming anyone for the track's condition. He's fully aware of the fact that an intercollegiate athletic program is expensive and first things come first."

"I haven't visited with Tippy Dye (new NU director) about the track at all yet," Frank said. "He's got many other more pressing problems in getting his program underway."

Injury Problem

Main worry to Frank, of course, is the injury factor. "A boy could step on a clinker and really hurt an ankle or leg," Sevine said.

While the track facial undoubtedly will be taken care of sometime in the future when money becomes available, one thing is certain—Nebraska won't host any big meets with the track in its present condition.

"I wouldn't even bid for a major meet until the track is reconditioned," Sevine said. "We were lucky to get by the last NCAA without any mishaps, and I wouldn't want to take a chance on another big meet."

John Melton

Smith Entered In 26th Masters Golf

PREDICTS 1962 WINNERS

Augusta, Ga. (AP) — Horton Smith, has body sapped by a series of serious operations, tees off in his 26th Masters golf tournament Thursday — the only man who has played in them all.

"Look, my competitor's badge — number 26," the famous Joplin Ghost said with Boyish delight Monday. "This is my 26th, so I made them give me number 26."

"I'm awfully tired. I find it hard to hit the ball firmly. But I asked the doctors to let me play. Here I am."

It's a medical miracle that Smith, 53, winner of the first Masters in 1934 and a repeater in 1936, is able to keep his unbroken string intact. Five years ago he had most of his right lung removed. Since then, he has been in and out of the hospital so often he jokingly says he carries a commuters card. He was in the hospital 30 days last fall, 45 days during the winter when his weight dropped to 155.

"The last time I had a trachotomy—you know, a tube in my throat, like Elizabeth Taylor had, to open my windpipe," he said. "I couldn't talk for two weeks."

Smith has gained back some of his lost weight, but it is still agony for him to go the full 18 holes.

"I haven't played since September," he said. "I shot a 96 last week. Can you imagine it, a 96. I have trouble breathing. I get tired quickly. I have to force myself."

The tall, handsome Detroit professional, who beat Bob Jones in a tournament back in 1930 when Jones scored his grand slam, says golfers are getting better and the Augusta National course is getting easier with the passing of the years.

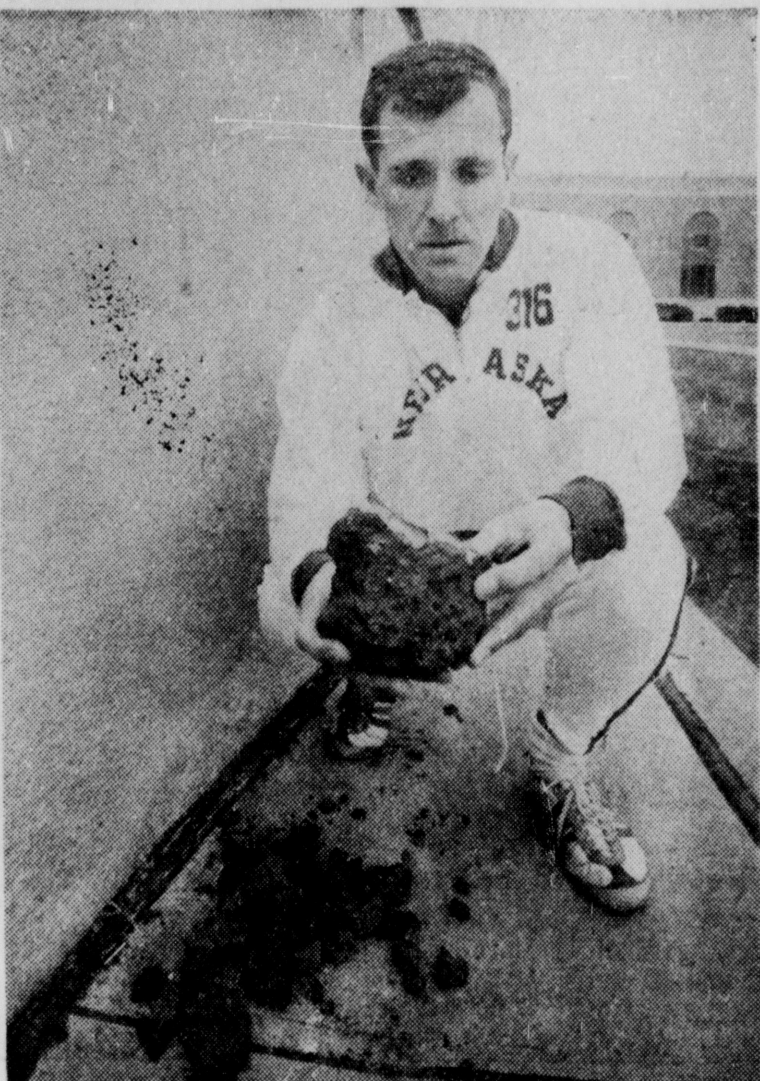

"Back before the war, the greens were so hard you could hear the ball roll over them," Smith said, "and now there is so much power in the game that placement of the drives isn't important any more."

"In this tournament, I'd have to go with the form sheet. I would pick Arnold Palmer, Nick Nicklaus and Gary Player in that order."

"Palmer is tremendous. I think, before he is through, he will set records never set before — even by Bob Jones and Ben Hogan."

"This young man is strong as an ox. He has a wonderful temperament. Pressure never get him. He is well-trained, son of a pro, and has great determination."

I'm very impressed with young Nicklaus. No other player, besides Jones, reached the bigtime at such an early age. He was a bigtime tournament player at 15.

MIKE FLEMING . . . NU track men are dodging clinkers these days.

TRIBE SWAPS VIC

GET STARTING PITCHER IN PEDRO RAMOS

Scottsdale, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians got a sorely needed starting pitcher Monday by trading first baseman Vic Power and pitcher Dick Stigman to the Minnesota Twins for Pedro Ramos.

No cash was involved in the deal, which was announced by Cal Griffith, president of the Twins, in Orlando, Fla.

The Indians, who have been having troubles in spring exhibition games, gave up one of baseball's finest fielding first basemen in Power. Stigman, a 26-year old southpaw, who was selected for the American League's 1960 all-star game, failed to come through for the Indians last year.

He suffered a sore elbow in spring training last year and didn't pitch until May. He compiled a 2-5 record in 22 appearances.

Power, 31, with a respectable lifetime average of .289, slumped to .268 last year and hit only 5 home runs. Cleveland manager Mel McGaha tried him at second base this spring but apparently wasn't satisfied with the arrangement.

Power played with Kansas City and the Philadelphia Athletics before coming to the Indians.

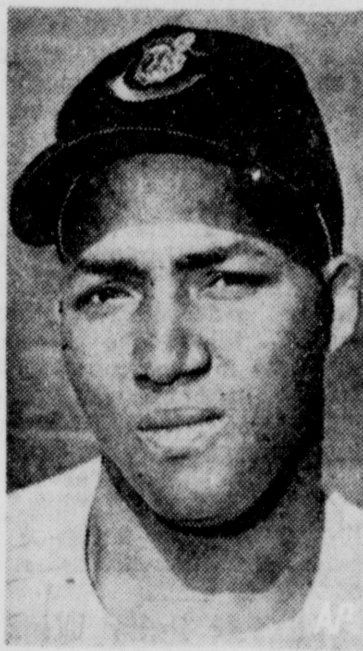

Ramos, a 26-year old righthander, was a workhorse for the Twins last year. He appeared in 42 games, winning 11 and losing 20, and had an earned run average of 4.64.

The trade was made "to shore up our pitching staff, the club's weak spot last year," Cleveland general manager Gabe Paul said. He said the trade, which he had discussed with Minnesota club officials several weeks ago, "gives us a regular, proven starting pitcher.

"This means Tito Francona or Gene Green will play first base, probably Francona to start. Al Luplow and Chuck Essegian will vie for Francona's left field spot."

Devaney Happy With Fair Skies As Huskers Open Grid Workouts

FOOTBALL HOPEFULS PRACTICING IN SPLIT DRILLS

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Robert Devaney, professor of football at the University of Nebraska, surveyed the cloudless sky, breathed the fresh air warmed by a pleasant spring sun and smiled.

"This is a fine way to start," Devaney said, just prior to puffing on his whistle to open Nebraska's spring football drills. "If we can have weather like this for a couple of weeks, we'll really be in business. After that the weather should be pretty good all the time."

More than 90 players reported to Devaney and his aides Monday, with about half working in the afternoon and the remainder getting their assignments in an evening session.

"I imagine the number will shrink to about 75," Devaney said. "Some of the eager boys now may change their mind."

It was a typical first-day-of-spring-football — lots of group work and various conditioning drills — but the tempo was spirited and, at times, somewhat rugged.

Various backfield combinations were given 8 offensive plays and Devaney said he hoped to "give them 40 to 50 plays by the end of spring ball."

There was heavy emphasis on passing and pass patterns, as well as plenty of pull-out drills for linemen who'll be operating from unbalanced formation.

The afternoon corps included the lettermen and the most experienced players in the NU camp, while the evening class was composed of the less tested troops.

"We may change the practice format a bit Wednesday," Bob said. "There is a chance we'll start one section at 3:15 to group work, then bring on the second section about 4:30 to join in the team work. The first section would quit at 5:30 and the late-starters would finish with group work."

Devaney would like to have some contact work Saturday morning, but he's delaying a decision until Friday.

"If we scrimmage Saturday, it will be a controlled affair," he said.

Making their Nebraska coaching debut with Devaney are Mike Corgan, Jim Ross, Carl Selmer and John Melton. Holdover coaches are Cletus Fischer, George Kelly and Harry Tolly.

The Cornhuskers are also slated to get some additional help from two veterans of the National Football League.

On hand to help Monday on a volunteer basis were former Husker star Pat Fischer, now with the St. Louis Cardinals, and Tom Osborne, ex-Hastings standout now with the Washington Redskins.

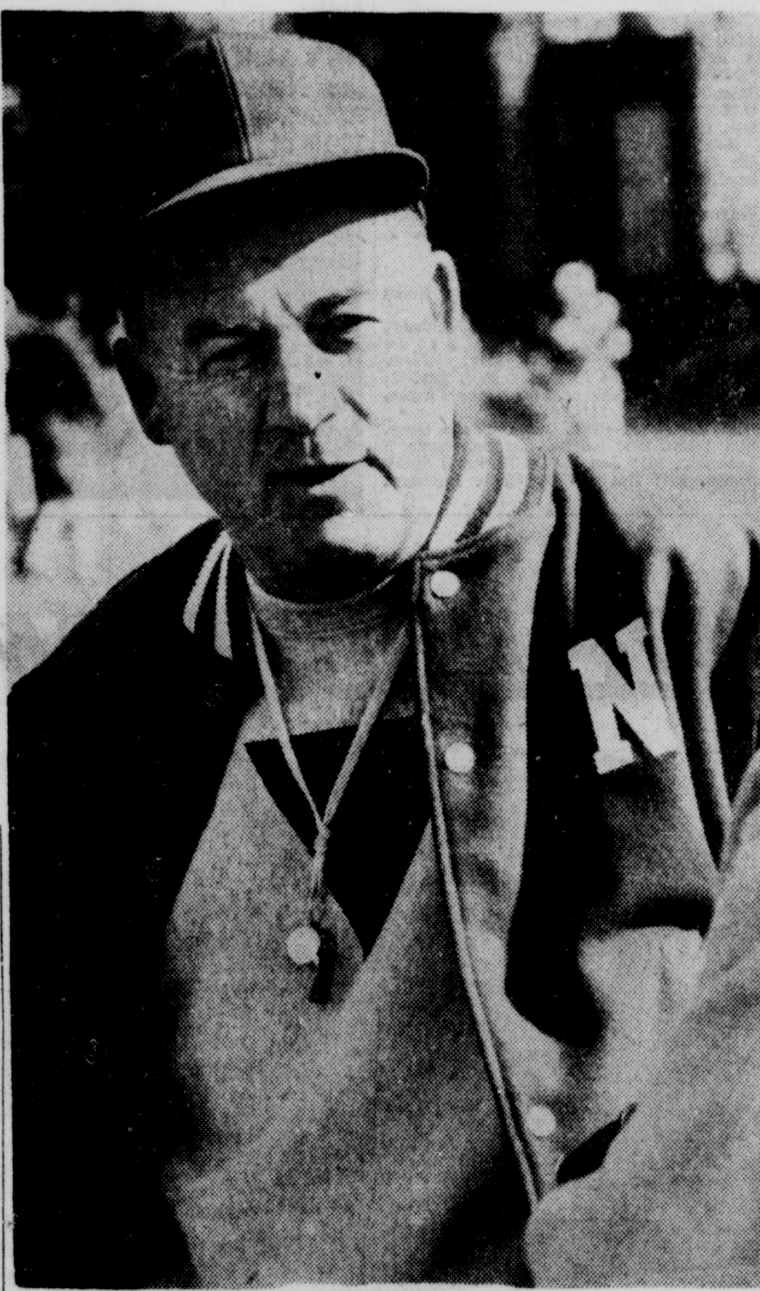

"Pat and Tom certainly are welcome and we're glad they want to help," Devaney said. Student assistants this spring will be Dallas Dyer, Mick Tingelhoff and George Haney, all members of the 1961 NU team.

Husker Gridders Have TV Date With Mizzou

Nebraska has a television date next fall.

The Nebraska-Missouri Homecoming game here on Nov. 3 has been booked by the Columbia Broadcasting System for a regional TV program, part of the overall NCAA television package.

Five Fined For Fights

New York (AP) — The president of the National Basketball Association Monday fined 3 Boston and two Philadelphia players $50 each for "unsportsmanlike conduct" Sunday and warned of severe fines and suspensions if there are any further outbreaks.

Maurice Podoloff, the NBA president, handed out the fines to Sam Jones, Jim Loscutt and Tom Heinsohn of the Boston Celtics, and Guy Rodgers and Ted Luckenbill of the Philadelphia Warriors for punchtossing incidents in Sunday's NBA playoff between the clubs at Boston. The Celtics won 119-104 to take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-7 semifinal series. The series resumes in Philadelphia today.

"I'm advising both teams that if the next game or games are marred by similar scuffling severe fines and suspensions will be in order," said Podoloff.

Pair Of Former Chiefs Lead White Sox Past Kansas City

... HORLEN, HERSHBERGER STAR

Sarasota, Fla. (P)—Rookie right-hander Joel Horlen, a former Lincoln Chief pitched no-hit ball for the first 6 innings Monday as the Chicago White Sox rolled to their 6th triumph with a 5-1 win over the Kansas City A's.

Horlen allowed only one base runner, on a second-inning walk, prior to the 7th when the A's reached him for a run on triples by Bob Del Greco and Norm Sieburn. Turk Lown worked the last two innings for the Sox and gave up a single.

The Sox did all of their scoring off right-hander Jim Manning. They pushed across 3 runs in the second on 4 successive hits, including doubles by Mike Hershberger and Jim Landis, and added two more in the 5th on a double by Gerry McNertney and singles by Luis Aparicio and Nelson Fox.

Cards Score Early

Clearwater, Fla. (P)—The St. Louis Cardinals scored 4 runs in the first inning and went on to a 7-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Ted Savage, the Phillies' highly touted rookie outfielder, hit his first home run of the spring with a runner on base in the 3rd inning.

Southpaw Ray Sadecki and Curt Simmons collaborated on a 6-hit performance for the victorious Redbirds.

Reds Topple Fla.

Pitcher Bob Purkey and catcher Johnny Edwards teamed up for Cincinnati to whip the New York Mets, 5-2, in an exhibition baseball game.

Edwards, the National League champion's 23-year-old catcher, hit two homers and a single and drove in 3 runs. Purkey, the veteran right-hander, became the first Reds' pitcher to go the distance as he limited the Mets to 4 hits and fanned 5.

The Mets made an unearned run in the second inning and their final run in the 9th on two hits and a pinch single by Jim Marshall.

Frank Robinson, the National League's Most Valuable Player, also homered for the Reds. It was Robinson's 5th of the spring. Edwards' homers were his first two of the exhibition season.

All of the Reds' runs were scored off Howie Nunn, former Cincinnati pitcher, who went 6 innings. Bob Moorhead, the second New York hurler, yielded one hit and fanned 4 in two innings. The $25,000 minor league draft choice has pitched 12 scoreless innings.

Red Sox Rally Wins

Scottsdale, Ariz. (P)—The Boston Red Sox rallied to whip Cleveland 5-3 in the final of their spring exhibition series, the Red Sox winning 3 games to two.

Boston triumphed at the expense of Dick Donovan, veteran right-hander who was the American League's earned run leader at Washington last season. Donovan is expected to oppose the Red Sox in the 1962 opener at Boston next Tuesday.

Donovan was tagged for 11 of Boston's 13 hits before leaving after issuing his lone walk with two out in the 7th inning. Pinch hitter Lu Clinton greeted reliever Don Rudolph with a single which put the Sox ahead.

Russ Nixon, who singled in the tying run in the 6th, homered off Bill Daley for an insurance run in the 8th.

Cleveland counted all its runs off Gene Conley, who gave up 9 hits and 3 walks in 6 innings. Bill Monbouquette, who finished and gained the victory, yielded only two singles in his 3 innings.

Donovan singled and doubled and set up two Cleveland runs, which were delivered by Ty Cline's two sacrifice flies.

Pete Runnels had 3 singles and Frank Malzone, Nixon and Pumpsie Green each contributed a pair of hits to the Boston attack.

Yanks Bomb Rookie

Orlando, Fla. (P)—Four straight hits off 18-year-old rookie right-hander Jim Manning paced the New York Yankees to a 9-6 exhibition victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Manning had a string of 6 straight scoreless innings going over his last 4 appearances when the Yanks erupted. Elston Howard and Bill Skowron singled and both scored on a double by Hector Lopez, who tallied in Joe Pepitone's single.

Roger Maris belted his 3rd homer of the exhibition season with walking Tom Tresh aboard off Twins starter Jim Kaat in the 9th.

Apache Junction, Ariz. (P)—The Houston Colts hopped on Carl Willey for 4 runs in the 3rd on 4 hits and a walk, including Bob Aspromonte's double, to beat the Milwaukee Braves 8-3 and clinch the championship of the Cactus League.

Dick Farrell and Bob Tiefenauer teamed up to hold the Braves to 9 hits. Farrell worked the first 5 innings, allowed only 5 hits and one unearned run. Tiefenauer, a knuckleballer, worked the last 4 innings and allowed only two runs on 4 hits.

Houston wound up the Cactus League—exhibition baseball among the clubs training in Arizona and California—with a 14-7 record.

Hooter OK Says Downes And Crew

... SET FOR TITLE MATCH

Boston (P)—The middle-weight title bout Saturday night at Boston Garden could boil down to a cockney "hooter" and a former fireman's age.

The 15-rounder for a claim to the disputed crown pits champion Terry Downes of London, England, against former titlist Paul Pender while winding up his training for the clash. "So does my sparring partner, Willie Greene. That's why it's a good thing to use Greene."

Downes' chief worry could well be a combination of Pender's talented left hooks and jabs and Terry's nose—or "hooter" as the Britisher calls it. Downes is considered stronger and has a 6-year age advantage.

Pender, a 30-line old ex-fireman in Brookline, gashed the Downes nose for 14 stitches and plastic surgery in their first fight, winning on a 7th round TKO in January, 1961. Downes needed 18 stitches for nose repairs after a 1959 fight with Cowboy McCormack.

However, the Downes camp says it's not a bit worried about his nose for the 3rd fight.

"He didn't have a bit of trouble in the second fight," reminded Sam Burns, Downes' manager. "He went through 9 rounds and Pender didn't hurt him a bit last July."

Pender, claiming to be weakened by virus, retired in the 9th round of the second fight, held in London.

Pender, a 9-5 favorite for the rubber match, says he will fight the same kind of

Ten Reasons Why Yanks Should Win

... BY RALPH HOUK

Orlando, Fla. (P)—Ralph Houk, starting his sophomore year as manager of the New York Yankees, gave 10 reasons why he thinks his team will repeat as American League champions.

He listed them this way although not necessarily in that order:

1. "I see no reason why Roger Maris won't have another good year. He might not hit 61 homers again, but I still expect him hit in the 40s. Home runs are glamorous but I still go by how much he helps me in the field, on the bases and in coming through with men on bases. I know there will be some pressure, but he had pressure last year and he came through splendidly."

2. "If he can escape injury, and everything goes right, this can be the year Mickey Mantle will do everything that has been predicted for him. I never saw a better team player."

3. "I think Whitey Ford can win 20 games. I imagine Whitey could have finished 5 or 6 more last year. I took him out to rest him when he could have finished the game. I wanted to conserve him on a 4-day rotation. I look for him to pitch under the same schedule this year."

4. "We will open the season with a more settled pitching staff than last year. We began with Art Ditmar, Bob Turley, Ryne Duren and Johnny James figuring in our specific plans. We wound up with Ralph Terry, Bill Stafford, Bud Daley, Roland Sheldron and Hal Reniff. We have added Robin Roberts. I'm high on a young fellow named Jim Bouton."

5. "We know now how valuable Johnny Blanchard can be. He proved himself last year. He's going into this season with lots of confidence, which he didn't have last year."

6. "Yogi Berra has shown he can do a good job in the outfield. Did anyone really know whether he could play there? If I knew I would have put him there earlier in the season."

7. "I think Cleo Boyer, Hector Lopez and Bill Skowron are capable of hitting better. Boyer has been one of our best hitters this spring and Lopez looks like he should look in the outfield and at the plate."

8. "Luis Arroyo proved himself a great relief pitcher. We didn't know last spring that he was that good. He didn't even pitch one inning in the 1960 World Series."

9. "We had no bench at this time a year ago. Now we have Bob Cerv, Billy Gardner and Jack Reed, and we have a young fellow named Joe Pepitone, who looks like he might be with us."

10. "I have gone through certain experiences last year that will prove beneficial to me this year. I'm not saying I'm a better manager but I may be a bit wiser."

Now for the most pressing question. Who's going to open the season at shortstop? Phil Linz or Tom Tresh?

"I haven't made up my mind yet," Houk answered. "They're making it awfully tough for me. Both have done exceptionally well. Both are excellent base runners, both have good range and both hit pretty well. Linz has the quicker hands and maybe his arm is a little stronger. Tresh is a little quicker and has more power."

"Which one will open at short, I don't know. But I'm sure of this. Both will be with us when we open the season."

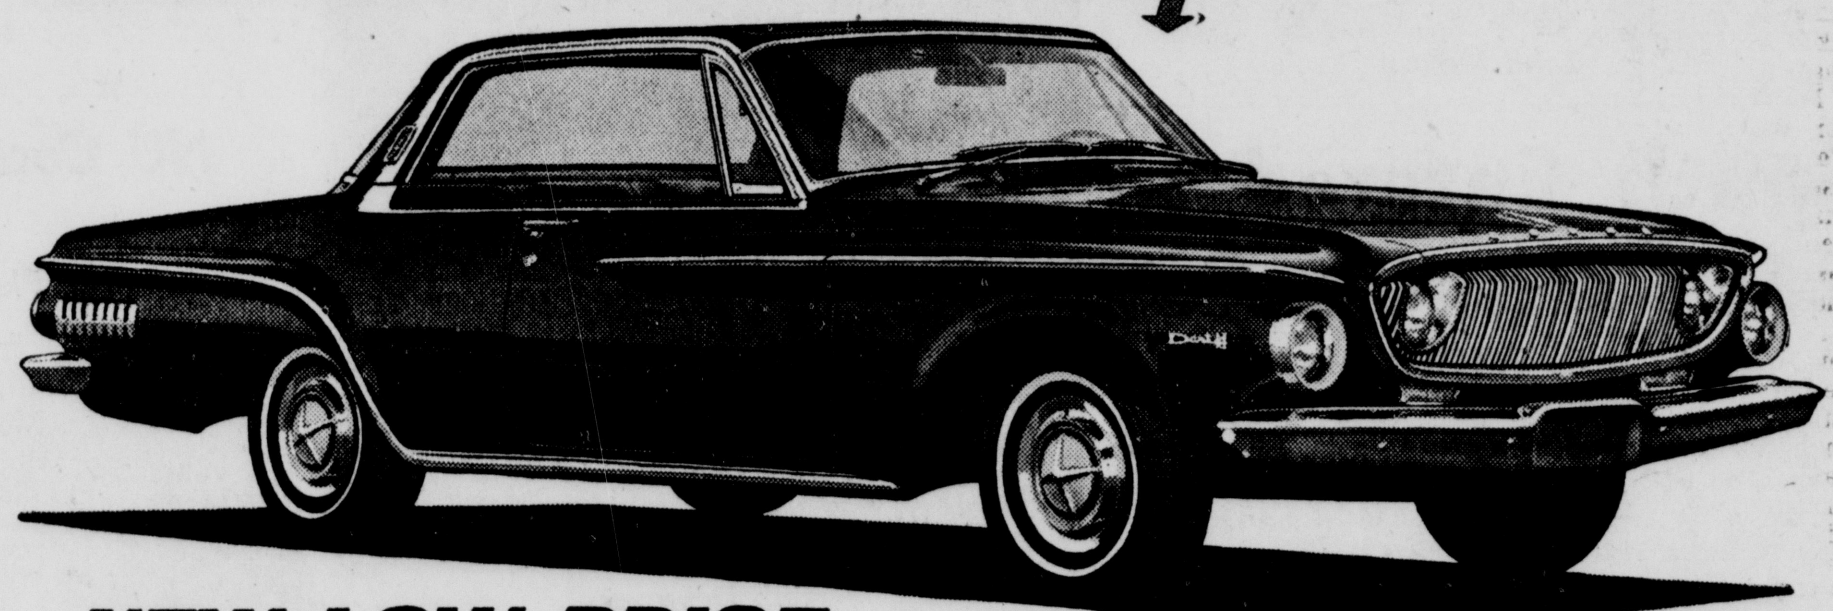

The key youngsters — Bill Stafford and Rollie Sheldon — won 25 between them and both have that extra year of experience.

That's the team. It's going to be tough to beat.

set for 1:30 p.m., with a single contest at the same time Saturday.

Nebraska opened the season last weekend with 3 wins over Tulsa on the loser's field. The Huskers won a single game, 8-5, and won both ends of the doubleheader, 6-5, and 7-5, on late-inning rallies.

Ron Havekost and Keith Sieck have been tabbed for the starting mound assignments for Friday's doubleheader, with Havekost going in the opener and Sieck getting the call for the nightcap. Sharpe said he probably would go with either Ernie Bonistall or Ed Johnson in Saturday's single game.

Sieck started in the season opener against Tulsa, giving up only one run on two hits in 6 innings before being relieved by Ernie Bonistall. Sieck has an ERA mark of 1.50.

Havekost started the second game of the doubleheader against Tulsa. He gave up 5 runs and 7 hits in a 4-inning stint.

The Huskers got timely hitting from Don Schindel, who went 5-for-5 in the opener and from Steve Smith and Dale Anderson in the doubleheader. Anderson homered with two on and Smith had two triples in the nightcap of the doubleheader.

Smith scored the winning run in the first game of the twinbill on a sacrifice fly by Dave Myers after Smith had singled, stole second and moved to third on an error.

Schindel leads the Husker hitters with a .583 mark on 7 hits in 12 trips. Smith is also hitting over the .500 mark with a .538 average. Three others are hitting .400 or better with Dale Anderson at .444, Dave May at .400 and Tom Ernst at .400.

Sieck started in the season opener against Tulsa, giving up only one run on two hits in 6 innings before being relieved by Ernie Bonistall. Sieck has an ERA mark of 1.50.

Dockey's Dogs Enjoy Water Sports; Play Water Polo, Also Basketball

... BIG BOXERS ALSO BITE TRAINER AND CHASE CATS

Hollywood (UPI) — Rudy Dockey gives television fans a rare treat Easter Sunday—a water polo match featuring boxer dogs.

Dockey's boxers are the Johnny Weismullers of Dogdom, as much at ease in water as they would be biting postmen.

Rudy referees their polo games in giant water tanks on CBS-TV's "Marineland Carnival," filmed at the famed aquatic amusement park near Hollywood.

"Water polo is difficult for them to play because the boxer is not a water dog," said Rudy. "I train them in the Atlantic Ocean."

Instead of a ball, Rudy's 8 mutts use large rubber balloons, which pop when the dogs bite them.

Dockey has a "professional secret" for training boxers so they won't be scared out of the water every time a balloon pops.

Life is not easy for Rudy, whose dogs also play basketball. Occasionally he gets bitten. And strangers think Rudy is off his rocker when he talks about basketball playing dogs.

Rudy swears on a stack of dog biscuits that one sporting goods store proprietor threatened him with arrest when Dockey ordered basketball suits for the boxers.

"He thought I was crazy and called the police," Rudy said. "I'm afraid to tell people what the dogs do. When I stop for gas along the road with my truck and trailer I can't tell strangers the dogs play polo and basketball."

Rudy is loyal to the boxers and never chastises the dogs when, out of sheer anxiety, they take a bite of his hide. After all, the dogs are Rudy's meal ticket.

"I only get bitten by mistake," he said, rubbing a dog-inflicted scar under his eye.

"In the finale of the act my dogs pop 50 balloons. And with 8 dogs biting, I can get nipped if my head gets in between those balloons while I'm refereeing."

Another occupational hazard for Rudy is the canine's worst enemy, cats. Should a pussycat happen by while Rudy's dogs are swimming around, all heck might break loose.

"I've never had the experience of meeting a cat during our act," Rudy said apprehensively. "But if the boxers saw a cat, they'd jump out of the water and kill it."

Because of that antagonism towards felines, Rudy takes no chances. When working his dogs in a circus, Dockey is careful lest they bite the lions.

"Those boxers are afraid of nothing," Rudy boasted.

Rudy's dogs have performed in many parts of the world and entertained thousands of people.

But Dockey is especially thankful that not a single dog has drowned or succumbed to the bends.

—SIEVERS MAY HELP— Phillies Have Come Into More Punch

Clearwater, Fla. (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies, baseball's perennial shadow-boxers, have come up with more punch but any way you look at them they're still preliminary boys with little business in the main event.

For the first time in years, the Phils have an authentic power hitter in their lineup in 35-year-old Roy Sievers, obtained from the Chicago White Sox during the winter.

"We were bleeding for runs last year," says manager Gene Mauch, "And that's the reason we gave up some of our youngsters to get a fellow like Sievers. He hit 27 homers for the White Sox and I think he'll do as well or maybe even better for us."

Sievers undoubtedly will help. He hits all kinds of pitching and should adjust quickly in the switch from the American to the National League. But he's only one man.

"Nobody expects him to do the entire job alone," points out Mauch. "I'm sure he'll have some help from guys like Don Demeter, Wes Covington and Frank Torre."

Mauch's present plans call for Sievers at first base with Torre behind him. Torre, who used to back up first baseman Joe Adcock with Milwaukee, hit .307 with Vancouver last year. He also can play the outfield if need be.

A slimmed-down Tony Taylor, who tailed off to .250 last year, is at second base and Ruben Amaro will be at shortstop until he is called back into the Army. When Amaro goes into service, Billy Consolo, who hit .283 at Vancouver, or Bobby Wine, a .243 hitter at Buffalo, will take over the job.

Mauch's big project this spring was completing the conversion of Demeter from an outfielder to a 3rd baseman.

"We need his bat in the lineup," says Mauch. "And I've been more than satisfied with his work at 3rd base so far."

Demeter, the one-time Dodger heir apparent to Duke Snider's job, batted only .251 last year but belted 21 homers and drove in 70 runs.

Up to now, Mauch has leaned toward an outfield made up of Covington in left, Tony Gonzalez in center and rookie Ted Savage in right. Savage, a 25-year-old right-handed hitter, fashioned a .325 average at Buffalo and hit 24 home runs.

"If he comes through for us, I don't think we'll have a thing to worry about in the outfield," Mauch points out. "I've got a lot of faith in Covington, and Gonzalez does a good job for us in center."

Covington, 30, was with 4 major league clubs last year — the A's, White Sox, Braves and Phillies. He hit .233 in the A.L. and .290 in the N.L., totaling 12 homers in both circuits. Gonzalez had the same number of homers for the Phils and hit .277.

For extra outfielders, Mauch has John Callison, who hit .266 last season, Torre, and possibly rookie Jackie Davis, a .303 hitter with Buffalo.

Clay Dalrymple will have to do most of the catching even though he hit only .220 in 1961. Bob Oldis, who hit .224 for Columbus, is the only one around to spell Dalrymple.

The Phillies have the start of a pitching staff in Art Mahaffey, Jack Baldschun and Jim Owens but that's all. Mahaffey had an 11-19 record last season, Baldschun was 5-3 and Owens 5-10. All 3 are better than those records actually reveal.

A 4th possible starter is Cal McLish, who recently came over to the Phillies in the mixed-up Andy Carey deal. McLish won 10 games and lost 13 for the White Sox last year.

Mauch hints he may keep two or 3 rookie hurlers — southpaw Marcelino Lopez and right-handers John Booser and Ed Lunsford. Booser had a 19-9 mark with Chattanooga, Lopez and 10-5 with Williamsport and Lunsford 6-3 with the same club.

Another good looking pitching prospect is Paul Brown, who got a delayed start this spring due to a bout with hepatitis. Brown, a fastballer, was 8-5 at Williamsport and 3-2 at Buffalo.

The other pitchers on the staff are Chris Short (6-12), Frank Sullivan (3-16), Don Ferrarese (5-12), Dallas Green (2-4) and Ed Keegan, who was 7-5 at Buffalo.

Admittedly, Mauch doesn't have much to work with, but he's the kind who digs in and never gives up. He has one of the toughest jobs around and he's the type who can get it done. All he needs is time. And plenty of it, too.

JAIPUR TO GO AT AQUEDUCT

New York (AP) — Jaipur, one of the leading 2-year-old colts of 1961, will definitely start Saturday in the $50,000-added Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct against some of the leading Kentucky Derby contenders in the East.

George D. Widener, owner of the Colt who trained all winter but didn't race in Florida, made the announcement.

Neither he nor trainer Bert Mulholland mentioned a rider for Jaipur, who will not go to the Derby but is being pointed for the Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

Eddie Arcaro rode Jaipur, winner of 3 major stakes and $214,659 as a 2-year-old. But Arcaro hasn't ridden since last fall.

Anti-Nasser Men In Syria's Junta Lose

Beirut, Lebanon (P) — Six anti-Nasser officers in Syria's were reported being shipped into exile early Tuesday in a move to avert civil war.

Reports reaching here from the Syrian capital of Damascus said two top Syrian political figures were seeking to quell a pro-Nasser military uprising in northern Syria with a solution that would turn the troubled Middle East nation back toward close ties with President Nasser's United Arab Republic. Those ties were severed last September.

According to these reports former President Shukri Kuwaty — one of the leaders of Syria's original merger with Nasser's Egypt in 1958 — and the conservative Aleppo political leader Rushdi Kikhya were mediating between the Damascus junta and the pro-Nasser army officers in Aleppo.

The reports said a compromise ending the Aleppo uprising against the junta was near.

Already, the reports said, 6 members of the junta which overthrew the Syrian parliamentary regime last Wednesday were being exiled to pave the way for a settlement. Among the 6 were said to be several of the most active anti-Nasser officers.

The junta has been shaken by the pro-Nasser uprising in Aleppo and other key towns in northern and central sections of the country.

IGA Official Sees Growth Of $1 Billion

The executive vice president of the Independent Grocers' Alliance, Herbert T. Webb, Monday said that his group plans to increase 1962 business by $1 billion.

In Lincoln for IGA's 35th Anniversary Merchandising Conference, Webb said the increase will be attained by:

- Adding new stores under the direction of Henry Longebaker, director of IGA planning out of Chicago.
- Upgrading of expansion of present stores.
- Opening new territories.

"It is a large task, but it will be done," Webb said, adding that IGA now serves 44 states, has 5,235 affiliated supermarkets, and 83 distribution centers.

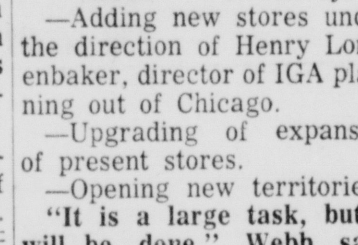

Webb also told of a new "packaged store program" which will allow operators to purchase a building, fixtures and complete inventory for a supermarket.

"They can buy them in two sizes," he explained. "One has 6,400 sq. ft., and the other 8,800 sq. ft."

He said that such a program creates "great opportunity for those seeking expansion or a business."

The Chicago man said that 3 million pounds of beef alone are being sold in IGA markets each week, and "a great deal of this" is purchased in Omaha.

IGA members from Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado and Iowa are attending the two-day program which ends Tuesday.

Goldberg Planning To Fight Stoppages ... AT MISSILE BASES

Washington (UPI) — Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg announced Monday that he will head a nationwide person-to-person drive designed to check a rising number of work stoppages at the nation's missile bases.

He said he would leave April 25 on a tour of bases, including Schilling Base at Saline, Kan., and Malmstrom at Great Falls, Mont., to help impress on workers the urgency of continuing missile base construction without interruptions.

He made the announcement after he and other government officials met with labor leaders, contractors and public representatives in an effort to check the work stoppages. March was the worst month for such walkouts since the unions issued a no-strike pledge last May.

Big Problem

Goldberg told a news conference that the big problem was to communicate a sense of urgency to the individual worker. He said, "we intend to do this more actively from the national and local level."

Goldberg is chairman of President Kennedy's missile sites labor committee.

The labor secretary emphasized that the labor situation at missile bases is "infinitely better than it was a year ago."

He said there have been virtually no work stoppages at 18 of the 22 bases under construction, and that the man-hours lost so far this year at the remaining 4 has been only a "small fraction" of the work time lost during a similar period last year.

Urgency

But he added that there had been a "slight upsurge" in stoppages during recent weeks.

Goldberg said he wanted to see collective bargaining operate sensibly. He said sometimes a worker decided "to walk rather than talk" because he does not know that procedures for settling disputes have been set up.

$100 A Year Could Save You From Cancer Death

Washington (P)—By investing $100 a year, you might escape death by cancer, a famous surgeon said Monday.

Dr. I. S. Ravdin, president-elect of the American Cancer Society, said that would be the approximate cost of a cancer-checkup examination which, if taken yearly by every adult American, could save "many more patients with cancer by early detection and treatment."

Ravdin, of the University of Pennsylvania, and one of the attending surgeons in former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's non-cancerous ileitis case, gave no over-all estimates on the number of lives that could be saved.

One Out Of Two

But the American Cancer Society has repeatedly said that if full advantage were taken of science's admittedly incomplete present knowledge of cancer, the number of lives saved could be increased from the present one-in-three cases to at least one out of every two.

Ravdin gave the figure on the cost of a cancer-checkup in answer to a question after addressing a National Press Club symposium on progress made against cancer during the past 25 years.

Four other nationally-known cancer researchers also appeared on the program which generated these other highlights:

- Russia and the United States have at least one thing in common: the incidence of cancer in both countries is roughly the same.
- Dr. Kenneth M. Endicott, director of the National Cancer Institute, gave the estimate.

A state advisory committee to direct reactivation of the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) in Nebraska was named at a Statehouse meeting Monday.

CROP was disbanded in Nebraska in 1952 because of high administration costs, officials said.

CROP is a community-wide service of the churches in which individuals can designate gifts for overseas church agencies.

The Rev. Theodore Holland of Colorado Springs, CROP regional supervisor, said Nebraska and New Mexico are the only states in its 10-state area not actively participating in the program.

Food and Tools

Wilson Radway of Elkhart, Ind., CROP national field director, explained that CROP supplies both food and tools on the basis of need, without question of race, creed or politics.

Radway said there are some areas in Asia where there is only one hoe for 30 families to use in tilling crops.

Gov. Frank Morrison's appearance before the group combined praise of the CROP program with criticism of newspapers.

"Nothing of this meeting will appear in the newspaper, as your program isn't newsworthy because it isn't destructive, but it is vital to human welfare," Morrison said.

Named to the state advisory committee were:

- The Rt. Rev. Marr. Daniel Cooper of Waterloo, Iowa, Diocese director of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference;
- Ralph L. Reed of Lincoln, representing the Nebraska Council of Churches;
- The Rev. Carroll H. Lemon of Lincoln, executive secretary of the Nebraska Food-For-Peace Committee;
- The Rev. Waldo J. Werning of Lincoln, mission and stewardship counselor of the Southern Nebraska district, Lutheran Churches-Missouri Synod.

SBA Office Slated To Handle Flood Loans In Norfolk

Omaha (P) — Lyle S. MacKenzie, Omaha branch manager of the Small Business Administration, said preliminary plans call for setting up an office at Norfolk to handle flood disaster claims for Madison and Pierce Counties.

The Small Business Administration in Washington has declared those counties and Douglas County to be flood disaster areas, thus making available loans to owners of homes and businesses.

MacKenzie emphasized that his agency cannot grant loans in agricultural areas or for bridge or road repair.

He said he plans to have representatives at Waterloo in Douglas County and Pierce in Pierce County after the Norfolk office is opened.

MacKenzie said he did not believe the losses sustained would run over a $1,000 a unit. He pointed out that owners of property in areas adjacent to the 3 counties are also eligible for aid.

Estes Freed After Bond Cut

Paso, Tex. (AP)—Billie Sol Estes, a financier charged with fraud, was freed Monday under reduced bond of $100,000.

Federal Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason reduced bail from $500,000 after hours of testimony, including statements that Estes threatened to flee to extradition-proof Brazil.

Signing as surety were John Estes, the father; Dr. Sol Estes of Abilene, an uncle; and Dr. John Estes, Abilene, a brother.

Conspiracy

Estes, 37, and 3 of his associates were arrested and charged last Thursday with conspiracy and transporting fraudulent mortgages from Texas to California in multi-million-dollar deals.

Frank Cain, a Dallas lawyer, quoted Estes as saying he planned to take all the money he could rake together and flee to Brazil if authorities or lending companies moved in on him.

Cain represents Pacific Finance Co. of Los Angeles, one of the lending companies which has sued Estes and others for $4,300,000 because of mortgage dealings.

One lending company, Walter E. Heller and Co. of Chicago, said $7 million in its mortgages may be affected. Robert I. Livingston, president of Heller, said the company must make "extraordinary provision for losses out of this year's earnings."

A dozen or more lending companies have about $22 million tied up in mortgages on anhydrous ammonia tanks which the government claims in its charges do not exist.

Estes testified he owed $32 million and had assets of $20 million "as a going business."

"I Can Pay"

"I know I can pay it off," he said.

Turning to the judge, Estes pleaded: "I won't go to Brazil or any other place or slight in any way my responsibility to the law."

Estes finally clarified one of the mysteries of his case. "I picked out of the blue sky," he testified, the name

Jacob W. Chesen, Broom Factory Manager, Is Dead

Jacob W. Chesen of 1500 Crestview, manager of the Capital City Broom Works, died Monday.

Mrs. Chesen, 63, was born in Russia and had lived in Lincoln for 30 years. He was a member of South Street Temple, Rotary and Elks.

Survivors include his widow, Sarah; a son, Irvin S. of Quincy, Ill.; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Zavin and Mrs. Ellen Sue Shulkin, both of Los Angeles; a brother, Louis and a sister, Mrs. I. Bashferkin, both of Sioux City.

of a Swiss company that investigators have been trying to trace.

One document shows that Superior Tank Co., of Amarillo, which has figured prominently in the case, transferred $4,700,000 in mortgages to a Swiss firm listed as K. Weinheimer.

Estes said there was no such actual transaction.

He said the name was attached to documents to confuse his newspaper opposition, the Pecos, Tex., Independent and Enterprise which first began questioning the millions in mortgages in fertilizer tanks.

Estes owns the Pecos Daily News.

Harold Orr, 31, president of Superior Manufacturing Co., Amarillo; Ruel Alexander, 36, Amarillo, Superior's secretary-treasurer; and Coleman McSpadden, 45, Lubbock, a superior director, are charged along with Estes.

Valley Dike Men Want State Help To Rebuild Levee

Representatives of the Union Diking and Drainage District at Valley called on Gov. Frank Morrison late Monday to enlist his help in efforts to make the dike more effective.

The dike gave way during recent flooding and permitted Platte River water to overflow an area considerably beyond the district's confines.

Morrison said his office will be represented at a meeting between the district and Army engineers later this week.

"There is an obvious need for more effective flood control there (at Valley) as well as at other towns," Morrison said.

District representatives said they seek financial and technical aid to make the dike more effective and sturdy.

Army engineers, after the 1960 flood, did the engineering and construction work necessary to repair the dike.

Both the state and federal government have a stake because flooding involves an area outside the district.

One district representative estimated the state has spent more to repair Neb. 64 between Valley and Leshara than was spent on construction of the protective dike.

NU Senior Recruits 63 Pledges For Eye Bank

By GENE BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

Lloyd Wade sees eye-to-eye with the Nebraska Lions Club Eye Bank program.

So much so, in fact, that he has recruited 63 pairs of eyes for the cause.

"We (the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity at the University of Nebraska) hope to increase this number to around 100 by spring," he explained.

Wade, a senior in business from Wauneta, said that all 63 eye pledges have come from his fraternity.

But, he explained that "we have hopes of expanding the program to the entire campus." He is plotting an all-out campaign.

Sales Talk

The super recruiter uses no pressure. He said "I just point out these things: 'Somewhere a child walks with faltering steps through the gathering darkness.'

"Somewhere a person in the twilight of life has lost touch with the world of color and light and familiar faces. 'Somewhere a person is losing his or her sight to diseases such as keratoconus, glaucoma and other conditions that could have been prevented.

"How would you like to be blind?"

Punch Line

Most people are interested in the program, according to Wade, and a majority of them are willing to help. Those who are not are told this by Wade: "You won't need them after you're dead."

The bank was established by the Lions Club to provide cornea transplants. After the donor's death, the eyes are claimed and sent to the bank for future use.

2 Face Charges Of Showing An Obscene Photo

Two University of Nebraska art students will be arraigned in Municipal Court Tuesday on charges of displaying an obscene picture, according to city prosecutor Fred Swihart.

Police report that one of the students was showing a picture of a half-naked woman to passersby on O Street this weekend.

When a policeman investigated, the second student came forward to explain that the picture was being shown to get reactions of passersby. The second student was taking photographs of their facial expressions, police said.

According to police, the photographs were intended for an art magazine. Pictures of the arrest were also taken, police said.

Chlorine Gas Overcomes 71 At Vegas Spa

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—Seventy-one persons were overcome Monday by chlorine gas that poured from a broken valve into the ventilating system of the Stardust Hotel.

A hospital official said many of those treated were suffering more from fright than gas.

"A lot of it was hysteria," the spokesman said.

Oxygen was administered at the hotel for those not so seriously affected. Most seriously hit were employees.

Several hundred persons were evacuated from the hotel when the gas used in treating swimming pool water seeped into the kitchen and one of the hotel's 3 restaurants.

There was no evidence of the gas in the casino. Players remained at the gaming tables and slot machines.

Officials at Sunrise Hospital said 6 persons were admitted but were in satisfactory condition. The others were treated and released.

The gas escaped in the room near the kitchen. Workmen who had been repairing the valve tried for 15 minutes — dashing one at a time back into the room holding their breath — before they could stop the leak.

"One of the men turned yellow and green," said a fellow employee.

Medical attendants said no one collapsed at the hotel although several lost consciousness at the hospital.

Only 4 hotel guests were treated. The rest were employees, most of them working in the kitchen and Palm Room restaurant.

Liz, Eddie To Get Divorce

New York (AP)—Beautiful Elizabeth Taylor Monday night let her lawyer tell the world what it has suspected for weeks — her 3-year marriage to singer Eddie Fisher is over.

Liz, in Rome, and Fisher, in New York, jointly approved a statement to be issued through the office of their lawyer Louis Nizer.

"Elizabeth and Eddie Fisher announce," it said, "that they have mutually agreed to part. Divorce proceedings will be instituted soon."

The bare announcement marked an end to suspense built up in recent weeks by Miss Taylor's growing interest in her "Cleopatra" co-star, Richard Burton, as they worked on location in Rome, and Fisher's desperate efforts to keep the marriage together and deny that the break was imminent.

While the announcement was being made, Fisher was attending a Broadway play.

In Rome, the 30-year-old actress and Burton had been seen driving into the grounds of her villa after attending a cocktail party in a private apartment with several friends.

Fisher was apparently in good spirits as he left his hotel for the theater. He told newsmen he planned to stay in New York only a short time before going to Hollywood.

"I gotta see my kids," he said. "They gotta see me."

He apparently referred to his daughter and son by his previous — and first — marriage to actress Debbie Reynolds. Miss Reynolds is now married to shoe magnate Harry Karl.

Miss Taylor married Fisher in 1959 after their romance broke up Fisher's marriage to Miss Reynolds. Previously she had been married to hotel heir Nick Hilton, a actor Michael Wilding, and producer Mike Todd.

Divorce ended her first two marriages, and Todd was killed in a plane crash in 1958.

Miss Taylor and Burton have been seen together frequently off the set of "Cleopatra," lunching, nightclubbing and on one occasion being photographed kissing during a break in the shooting.

Gone Shopping...

...She Saw It in the Daily Newspaper

CONSUMERS WITH NEEDS TO BE FILLED and money to spend shop the ads in their daily newspaper even though they may not be searching for a specific item.

A current research study* reveals that four out of five readers like to look at newspaper ads as a regular part of their daily reading. This same study shows that consumers rated newspapers ahead of all other major measured media for advertising that can be depended upon for information that is factual, useful, and tells where they can buy the products advertised. And they know they can clip the ad and take it right along as a handy buyer's reference for shopping.

Advertising, national and local, in the daily newspaper is always ready to help the buying consumer make his purchase whenever he decides, "now is the time I want to buy." It's always ready because almost nine out of ten* families get a newspaper in their homes every day. Advertising is seen and read because the latest survey results available* show that 89,567,000 adults and 9,456,000 teen-agers read a newspaper on an average weekday.

Stocks Again Are Uneven

New York (AP)—The stock market resumed its familiar habit Monday as it declined irregularly on the lightest volume since Lincoln's birthday.

The start of the second quarter and widespread expectations of a "spring rally" were not enough to shake traders out of their caution. The initialing of the steel labor agreement seemed to leave the investment community lukewarm.

Although weekly steel production rose slightly, there was talk in the financial community that steel buying will probably slacken now that labor peace seems assured in the industry.

The market was irregular in earnings, then softened. Lack of bids rather than concerted selling was mainly responsible for the drop performance.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a moderate loss of 1.53 at 705.22.

Volume came to 2.79 million shares from 2.95 million Friday and was the smallest since 2.62 million shares changed hands Feb. 12.

The market was narrowly mixed among steel, motors, oils, tobacco and drugs. Utilities, railroads, chemicals, and blue-chip chemicals, however, were lower.

Losses were mostly fractional. Some of the blue-chip chemicals, however, advanced along with higher-priced issues in other groups and a selection of the more volatile issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 1.10 to 256.50 with industrial average off 1.10 to 36.10 and low for the year and utilities off .30.

An estimated 14 billion was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the fall in the AP average.

Of 1,273 stocks traded, 386 advanced and 632 declined. New highs for the year totaled 22 and new lows 77.

The trend was unevenly lower on the American Stock Exchange. Volume dipped to 1.17 million shares from 1.18 million Friday.

U.S. government bond prices nudged higher late in the day, finishing in the plus column after a listless session. Corporate trading on the New York Stock Exchange failed to break out of the doldrums. Volume on the exchange rose to $1.76 million par value from $4.23 million Friday.

Chicago (AP)—The grain futures market had light but steady support in all commodities except corn Monday and finished in a generally firm range on the Board of Trade.

Most advances were in small fractions after a narrow retreat near the close on profit cashing, but nearly all soybean deliveries ended with gains of major fractions to a cent.

Brokers said the weakness in corn apparently was linked to a general opinion that the government has sold a good deal of surplus corn recently.

The group of last week was viewed as probably having reached the limit for the present and that some reaction was due to an increase of 350,000 bushels in Friday's transactions raised the figure near the record high reached last week.

The export market was viewed as firmness in the soybean oil market from time to time.

Some strength to soybeans along with word that some sales were made for export over the weekend and more is in prospect.

A private report that some sections of the southwest wheat harvest is better than expected helped stiffen wheat prices. However, the major demand was understood to have come through the export market.

Gov. Morrison To Recommend Stiffer Drivers License Laws

Gov. Frank Morrison said Monday he will recommend to the 1963 Legislature that driver licenses be withheld from Nebraska youths under 18 years of age until these youths have satisfactorily completed a course in driver education.

This, he said, will be coupled with recommendations including these:

- that driver education be

- offered in all Nebraska high schools.
- that chauffeur licenses be required for bus, truck and taxicab drivers.
- that special licenses and special training be required for school bus operators.
- that driver licensing laws be strengthened.
- that a paid state traffic safety coordinator be employed.

—that the state safety patrol add more men.

Elaborating, the governor made these points:

Thirty-nine states and the District of Columbia now require chauffeur's licenses.

The accident rate for school buses in Nebraska runs 5.8 times as heavy as for other buses in intrastate commerce in the state. Into the hands of school bus drivers in entrusted "the most precious asset we have—the lives of our young people."

No specific plans for strengthening driver licensing procedures have been drafted but programs in other states are being studied.

Morrison noted that in Pennsylvania, where stricter licensing was adopted, 8,176 persons were disqualified as drivers in the first 19 months, with nearly half of them voluntarily surrendering licenses because of age or physical defects. Of those drivers disqualified for cause, the 3 principal reasons were mental disorders, uncontrolled epilepsy and chronic alcoholism, in that order.

Although Col. C. J. Sanders, Nebraska Safety Patrol chief, is "doing an excellent job," he needs more men.
